Adlai Outlines 5-Point Peace Strategy Plan

Steps To Regain Initiative In Cold War Proposed

CHICAGO (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson Wednesday called for "new and bolder" thinking by united Western allies and offered his own 5-point "grand strategy for peace."

The 1952-56 Democratic presidential nominee told a crowd of cheering labor unionists," the effectiveness for leadership of the present (Eisenhower) administration in Washington has been impaired if not destroyed."

With that renewal of his criticism of the summit conference fiasco, Stevenson urged steps to take the initiative in the cold war and to "restore confidence in American leadership."

Stevenson declared the free world must outproduce the Communists and compete against them "as strenuously as we can on the economic and political front and by demonstrating with action rather than words that our system has more to offer mankind."

Stevenson, who says he is not a candidate for his party's presidential nomination but has not barred a draft, spoke at the convention of the Textile Workers Union of America in the grand ballroom of the Conrad Hilton Hotel.

Just Tuesday the convention endorsed Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts for the 1960 Democratic nomination.

The two-time candidate was saluted by rising ovations at the start and finish of his 34-minute address. He was interrupted 14 times by applause.

Stevenson suggested that these points be given priority in what he called "the grand strategy for peace."

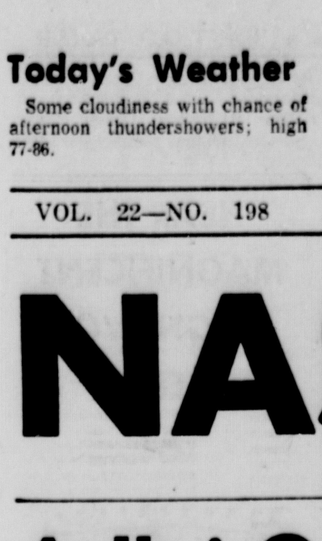

1. Build up "a deterrent power and a limited war capability with our NATO allies that does not depend on the budget bureaucrats."

2. Strengthen the Western alliance by "building a stronger political and economic community in the free world" and setting up an Atlantic Council.

3. Engage with our allies in planning of a long-range aid program for underdeveloped countries.

4. Assert that general and complete disarmament under international control is "an imperative for all of us."

5. Demonstrate the effectiveness of freedom in the United States by meeting needs for schooling, research, health, housing and all forms of public services.

Chilean Quake Relief Brings U.S. Good Will

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — A huge American mercy airlift for the disaster-stricken people of Chile wound up Wednesday with a harvest of good will for the United States.

More than 900 tons of food, clothing, blankets and two complete hospitals were flown here in six days aboard U.S. Air Force planes.

All this has touched Chileans, still in shock from the loss of several thousand fellow countrymen to earthquakes and tidal waves. Property damage is estimated at nearly a billion dollars.

In addition to diplomatic benefits for the U.S. government, Americans are receiving warm and personal thanks from ordinary people.

The U.S. military men and women are heroes here.

A soldier having his shoes shined at the airport is quickly surrounded by a dozen people who just stand and watch.

Army doctors and nurses are stopped in the street by Chileans expressing thanks. A pilot can't pay for a drink in a bar.

"If I accept half the drinks the Chileans want to buy me, I couldn't stand up," one Air Force crewman said.

An Army nurse related: "These people stop us in the streets, sometimes with tears in their eyes. They tell us how much they appreciate our coming here. They ask me if they can do anything for us—anything at all."

A government official said he believes the mammoth U.S. aid has dealt a serious blow to the sizable Chilean Communist party.

A diplomat from another South American nation called the airlift "not only a great humanitarian act but the smartest diplomatic move the United States has made in Latin America in years."

Moscow Air Hub

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet news agency Tass reported planes from several European capitals landed Wednesday for the first time at Sheremetyevo Airport, Moscow's third airfield.

Built about a year ago, it is about 16 miles from the city.

Soviet Aeroflot planes will depart from Sheremetyevo for 21 countries, Tass said. As many as 20 planes of foreign airlines will be handled there daily as well as domestic flights.

Mamie Enters Hospital After Asthma Attack

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mamie Eisenhower, suffering from an attack of acute asthmatic bronchitis, is under treatment at Walter Reed Army Hospital.

The White House announced the First Lady entered the hospital Tuesday and would remain under treatment "a short while"—presumably a few days.

Doctors reported she is feeling better, has little fever, and is "as comfortable as she can be" under the circumstances, White House press secretary James C. Hagerty said.

Hagerty announced Mrs. Eisenhower's hospitalization and said she has had such attacks before, although none so severe.

She is occupying the three-room air-conditioned executive suite at Walter Reed, which the President used after his ileitis operation in 1956. Her husband drove to the hospital and visited with her for half an hour Wednesday afternoon.

The report of her illness increased speculation that Mrs. Eisenhower may not go along, as scheduled, when the President makes his Far East trip starting June 12. Hagerty said he could not say about this, because he does not know how long she will be in the hospital.

Mrs. Eisenhower canceled plans to accompany the President to South America in February on the advice of her doctor that the trip would be too wearing.

In the seven years she has been in the White House, the First Lady has had no major illnesses. There were reports of minor colds and sore throats. In August 1957 she underwent a major operation—hysterectomy—and spent three weeks recovering in Walter Reed.

Two Workers Killed, Nine Hurt In Gas Explosion

FARGO, N.D. (UPI) — A gas explosion in an old power plant killed at least two men and left nine others injured amongst huge, scattered blocks of concrete Wednesday.

Ronald Dodge, one of a 12-man crew which had been working inside the Northern States Power Co. plant, said it appeared the blast was touched off when a welder cut into a gas line.

The explosion's force knocked three men completely out of the building.

Actors Begin All-Out Strike Of N.Y. Shows

Talks Break Down; "Tenth Man" Cast Fails To Show Up

NEW YORK (AP)—The curtain failed to rise on the hit show "The Tenth Man" Wednesday night, as Actors Equity launched the first all-out strike in 41 years. Every show on Broadway was expected to close within 24 hours.

Eight hundred persons were in the audience at the Booth Theater on West 45th Street when co-producer Arthur Cantor announced that the show would not go on.

The audience was informed their tickets would be honored Wednesday night at 13 other Broadway shows — excluding the top ones, which were sold out. Curtain time of the other shows was held up to accommodate the displaced "Tenth Man" audience.

The first move in Equity's hit-and-run strike against the League of New York Theaters had come about two hours earlier when contract talks had broken off in a bitter wrangle over pension demands.

Equity had long ago announced its plans to strike one theater at a time for one night at a time. The producers said a strike against one house would be a strike against all and that every theater on Broadway would be closed Thursday if "The Tenth Man" was struck Wednesday.

Mayor Robert F. Wagner made a futile last-minute effort to get the actors and producers together. But he couldn't surmount the problem of the union's pension demands. The producers said they would force a boost in already inflated ticket prices.

About an hour before curtain time, the 17 members of "The Tenth Man" cast — instead of reporting to Booth Theater—went to an Equity meeting at union headquarters on West 47th Street.

Curtain time—8:30 p.m.—came and went before the producers conceded defeat.

Senate Group Backs Murphy

WASHINGTON (AP)—The controversial nomination to the Interstate Commerce Commission of Timothy J. Murphy, a Boston lawyer, won 11-5 approval Wednesday of the Senate Commerce Committee.

But there may be more sharp questions raised by Democrats in the Senate when Murphy comes up for confirmation by that body.

The row over his nomination stems from his designation to replace a Democrat on the ICC and questions raised by some Democrats whether Murphy is really a member of their party, as he claims.

Murphy seconded the nomination of Vice President Richard M. Nixon at the 1956 Republican convention. He and Nixon were fellow Navy officers in the Pacific during World War II.

Murphy told the committee he has been a registered Democrat except for 1956, when he was registered as an independent. He said he has always voted Democratic except for his support of President Eisenhower and Nixon four years ago.

However, Murphy said he would be inclined to vote for Nixon for president this year.

The Democrats point out that the law requires that no more than six of the 11 members of the ICC shall belong to the same political party. At present six of the places are held by Republicans.

One Of Two Virginia Bank Robbers Seized

ALDIE, Va. (AP) — Virginia State Police Wednesday night reported the capture of one of two men who took $5,750 from a bank Tuesday at nearby Hamilton.

Trooper H. B. Williams identified the man as William Oliver Booth, 20. He was arrested at the home of a friend in this Loudoun County town.

Police said they were looking for Booth's brother, John Henry Bootth, 24, who also was believed involved in the armed holdup of the Farmers and Merchants National Bank.

Western Union Strike Apparently Averted

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Union and management negotiators averted a nationwide Western Union strike Wednesday by agreeing on a new two-year contract providing a 21-cent-an-hour increase in wages and fringe benefits.

Representatives of the company and the two unions involved—the Commercial Telegraphers Union (CTU) and the American Communications Association (ACA)—reached oral agreement on new contract terms after more than 17 hours of bargaining.

Herter Expects Reds To Stir Up Trouble In Asia

WASHINGTON (AP) —Secretary of State Christian A. Herter said Wednesday the Communist bloc likely will launch new probing action, especially in the Far East.

Herter coupled this warning with a fresh denunciation of Red China's government as an outlaw regime intent on grabbing its smaller neighbors by force.

He pledged the United States will continue to oppose Red China's admission to the United Nations until it makes trustworthy promises to live at peace with its Asian neighbors.

Herter outlined his views at a closed-door strategy meeting of representatives of the eight Southeast Asia Treaty Organization allies.

A spokesman reported the gist of Herter's remarks after the conference examined the outlook in the wake of the blowup of the summit meeting.

The eight allies agreed they can expect trouble from the Chinese Reds unless they stand firm.

Although predicting likely trouble, Herter said he does not expect any Soviet action against divided Berlin.

But Herter cautioned that Soviet policy can switch very rapidly and that the West must keep up its guard.

The secretary's strongly worded attack on the Peiping regime, informants said, was aimed at answering New Zealand's Prime Minister Walter Nash.

Nash is reported to have suggested to the meeting that Red China's membership in the U.N. might help calm the tense post-summit outlook.

In reply, Herter lambasted the Chinese Reds for unswervingly pushing a hard line in dealing with the West.

Represented at the meeting are the United States, Britain, France, the Philippines, Australia, New Zealand, Pakistan and Thailand.

Hot, Wet June In Prospect For Much Of Nation

WASHINGTON (AP)—A hot and wet June is in prospect for much of the nation, the Weather Bureau predicted Wednesday.

It said:

"The Weather Bureau's 30-day outlook for June calls for temperatures to average above seasonal normals over the Great Lakes region and over the western half of the nation except for below normal in the Pacific Northwest. Near normal temperature averages are expected in the remainder of the nation except for slightly below normal in the middle Atlantic states.

"Precipitation is expected to exceed normal in the Pacific Northwest, the western Great Lakes region and the middle and north Atlantic states. Subnormal amounts are anticipated for the plateau states, the far Southwest and in states bordering the Gulf of Mexico. In unspecified areas near normal rainfall is in prospect."

Desert Yields Fliers' Bodies

HEIDELBERG, Germany (AP) —The remains of two more crew members of the U.S. World War II bomber "Lady Be Good" have been found in the Libyan Desert, the U.S. Army said Wednesday.

One body was discovered early in May by geologists of a British oil company. The other was found by members of a 19-man U.S. Army search team which hunted the area for several weeks in April and May.

The Army said experts have identified the bodies but names will not be released until final determination has been made by a board of officers. This procedure is necessary to establish an identification admissable in court, the Army said.

The B24 bomber was discovered almost intact last year about 400 miles from the Mediterranean coast. It had made a pilotless belly landing after the crew parachuted while returning from a bombing raid on Naples, Italy, April 4, 1943.

Frederick Man, Son, 10, Missing In Boat Mishap

KNOXVILLE, Md. (AP) — A Frederick father and his son disappeared Wednesday night when a fishing boat capsized in the rain-swollen Potomac River. A teenage companion was rescued after he grabbed a tree branch and reached safety on an island.

Missing and presumed drowned were Daniel Woods, 32, and his 10-year-old son, Alan.

State Police and a fire department rescue squad from Brunswick, aided by floodlights, searched the river until late at night for the missing pair. About 10 boats were used in the search between Knoxville and Brunswick, a distance of about five miles.

A private plane, piloted by William Care of Brunswick, also was used in the search until grounded by darkness. The rescue attempt attracted about 1,000 persons.

Millard Mastrino, 19, also of Frederick, was rescued from the island about 45 minutes after the boat was swamped in water about eight feet above normal because of last week's rains.

Minimum Wage Compromise Set

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A House Labor subcommittee agreed informally Wednesday on a compromise bill which gradually would increase the $1-an-hour federal minimum wage to $1.25.

The bill would bring under the wage-hour law 4,182,000 workers —mostly in large retail stores— who are not now covered. Rep. James Roosevelt (D-Calif.), the bill's author, estimated that 3,280,000 current wage earners actually would get pay increases.

The subcommittee will place the compromise before the full 30-member labor committee Thursday.

Investigator Is Skeptical Of Testimony

Spokesman Denies Agency Aware U2s Used In Espionage

WASHINGTON (AP)—The civilian space agency's second in command denied Wednesday that his agency knew its U2 weather study planes were being used for spying. A Senate investigator was openly skeptical of this.

Testifying before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, Dr. Hugh L. Dryden said the National Aeronautics and Space Administration has "no intelligence activities either in the development of devices, methods, instruments or operations."

Dryden, NASA's deputy administrator, also told the committee the high-altitude U2s have made more than 200 weather research flights since 1956 but that the agency did not know just where the aircraft went until "after the fact."

Those flights, covering about 264,000 miles, generally were conducted in the United States, Western Europe, Turkey and Japan, he said.

Cover For Espionage

The space agency's deputy chief spoke behind closed doors and a transcript of his testimony was handed to reporters only after censors had deleted large segments of it. Reporters complained about this, but to no avail.

Meeting with newsmen after Dryden was excused, committee Chairman J. William Fulbright (D-Ark) said he does not believe that most NASA officials knew their agency was being used as a cover for aerial spying.

But of Dryden, Fulbright said: "This witness—he's had long experience—I think he knew a good deal about what was going on."

Fulbright said it was "a rather dangerous undertaking" to use the space agency as a cover for espionage.

However, he said Dryden's testimony showed the bulk of U2 flights were actually for study of upper-air turbulence and other weather data, as claimed.

Believes All U2s Grounded

In addition to the U2s, which he said he believed are all grounded now, Dryden told of NASA installing research instruments in both commercial and military planes, and of working with foreign governments.

Critics of the administration's actions in the U2 spy plane's loss in the Soviet Union a month ago have voiced concern that the space agency's avowedly scientific, nonmilitary role would be discredited as a result.

The committee is searching for the whys and wherefores on the U2 spy plane mission which ended in disaster in the Soviet Union two weeks before the summit talks were to open in Paris. In the wake of that ill-starred flight, those talks collapsed and U. S. Soviet relations became bitter.

The plane was downed May 1, and the first U.S. announcement soon afterward was a statement from NASA that one of its weather planes based in Turkey was missing.

This—and a later statement that the pilot may have blacked out

House Members' Expense Account Records To Be Bared

WASHINGTON (AP) —Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn (D-Tex) said Wednesday the expense account records of congressmen's spending from House funds will be open to public inspection as soon as arrangements can be made for their supervised examination.

At the moment these records are not available, by order of House clerk Ralph R. Roberts following publication of statements that dozens of expense account vouchers have been altered or amended in recent years.

Rayburn said Roberts' order will stand for the present, but the speaker indicated the ban on checking the vouchers may be lifted in a few days, perhaps Thursday. An aide indicated there will be conditions requiring that they not be photographed or physically removed from the clerk's custody.

The matter broke into the open with the publication of a copyrighted article in the Knight newspapers relating incidents of alteration of vouchers.

The story said receipts supporting the expense accounts were changed in some instances to show different expenditures than had first been listed.

Accordingly, it said some congressmen "spent tax dollars on trips to resort areas, or night clubbing and tipping aboard luxury liners."

Ike's Fault No Private Talks Held, Khrush Says

MOSCOW (AP)—Premier Nikita Khrushchev blamed President Eisenhower Wednesday for the fact that the two leaders had no private meeting either before or after the abortive Paris summit conference.

Khrushchev sought to drive home his contention that the U2 spy plane flight incident produced the latest break in Soviet-American relations, culminating in the blowup of the conference last month. Khrushchev maintained this was all Eisenhower's fault and said, "The first step was to be expected from the U. S. President and from him only."

Khrushchev gave new publicity to his point of view in an unusual front-page interview with the government newspaper Izvestia It was transmitted abroad by Radio Moscow and Tass, Soviet news agency.

The Premier had said the same thing in some detail to a Kremlin meeting of Communist workers Saturday but apparently felt this point was buried in press accounts because the speech contained so much else.

The interview apparently to be one of a series of moves intended to impress on the world the Soviet leader's view that he should not be blamed for the failure of the summit.

The next one may be Friday, when correspondents are invited to a Kremlin news conference. They were not told who would hold the conference or what the subject would be.

Scripps-Howard Newspapers Back Johnson For Democratic Nomination

By The Associated Press

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas won the support of the Scripps-Howard newspapers Wednesday for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Such other possibilities as Sen. Stuart Symington of Moussiri and former Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois renewed their attacks on the Republican administration in speeches.

And the Democratic front runner, Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts, planned a Thursday visit with Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan, who might be persuaded to swing his 51 votes in the nominating convention to Kennedy.

Republicans, with nothing like the number of presidential candidates the Democrats have, made comparatively little news Wednesday.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York went to Syracuse, N.Y., to talk political strategy with GOP leaders of central New York. He also had a date with a cattlemen's association.

The Scripps-Howard papers, in endorsing Johnson for the Democratic nomination, said they would delay action on expressing support for a Republican to win his party's nomination.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon already has lined up more than enough delegate votes to give him the nomination, but the newspaper group expressed hope there would yet be a Republican contest.

The newspapers' stand was announced in an editorial in the New York World Telegram & Sun.

Nixon came under Democratic fire at Chicago, where Stevenson made his sixth speech in seven weeks.

Stevenson's audience was the convention of the Textile Workers Union of America, which on Tuesday endorsed Kennedy for the Democratic nomination.

Symington, at Oakland, Calif., told a gathering sponsored by the AFL-CIO that the Eisenhower administration has sadly neglected helping the health of citizens.

He proposed a 400-million-dollar medical program and said it could easily be financed with money to be saved from what he called flagrant waste in the administration.

Murphy seconded the nomination of Vice President Richard M. Nixon at the 1956 Republican convention. He and Nixon were fellow Navy officers in the Pacific during World War II.

Murphy told the committee he has been a registered Democrat except for 1956, when he was registered as an independent. He said he has always voted Democratic except for his support of President Eisenhower and Nixon four years ago.

However, Murphy said he would be inclined to vote for Nixon for president this year.

The Democrats point out that the law requires that no more than six of the 11 members of the ICC shall belong to the same political party. At present six of the places are held by Republicans.

Western Union Strike Apparently Averted

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Union and management negotiators averted a nationwide Western Union strike Wednesday by agreeing on a new two-year contract providing a 21-cent-an-hour increase in wages and fringe benefits.

Representatives of the company and the two unions involved—the Commercial Telegraphers Union (CTU) and the American Communications Association (ACA)—reached oral agreement on new contract terms after more than 17 hours of bargaining.

Duke Visits London

LONDON (AP) — The Duke of Windsor is on a private visit to London. With a derby on his head and a red carnation in his buttonhole, he arrived from Paris as British royalty left town to see the Epsom Derby. The duke didn't plan to attend that race.

Herter Expects Reds To Stir Up Trouble In Asia

WASHINGTON (AP) —Secretary of State Christian A. Herter said Wednesday the Communist bloc likely will launch new probing action, especially in the Far East.

Herter coupled this warning with a fresh denunciation of Red China's government as an outlaw regime intent on grabbing its smaller neighbors by force.

He pledged the United States will continue to oppose Red China's admission to the United Nations until it makes trustworthy promises to live at peace with its Asian neighbors.

Herter outlined his views at a closed-door strategy meeting of representatives of the eight Southeast Asia Treaty Organization allies.

A spokesman reported the gist of Herter's remarks after the conference examined the outlook in the wake of the blowup of the summit meeting.

The eight allies agreed they can expect trouble from the Chinese Reds unless they stand firm.

Although predicting likely trouble, Herter said he does not expect any Soviet action against divided Berlin.

But Herter cautioned that Soviet policy can switch very rapidly and that the West must keep up its guard.

The secretary's strongly worded attack on the Peiping regime, informants said, was aimed at answering New Zealand's Prime Minister Walter Nash.

Nash is reported to have suggested to the meeting that Red China's membership in the U.N. might help calm the tense post-summit outlook.

In reply, Herter lambasted the Chinese Reds for unswervingly pushing a hard line in dealing with the West.

Represented at the meeting are the United States, Britain, France, the Philippines, Australia, New Zealand, Pakistan and Thailand.

New RAF Commander

LONDON (AP)—Air Vice Marshal Anthony Dunkerton Selway was named Wednesday as Royal Air Force commander in chief for the Far East. He will take over June 30 from Air Chief Marshal, the Earl of Bandon, who has held the post since 1957.

Hot, Wet June In Prospect For Much Of Nation

WASHINGTON (AP)—A hot and wet June is in prospect for much of the nation, the Weather Bureau predicted Wednesday.

It said:

"The Weather Bureau's 30-day outlook for June calls for temperatures to average above seasonal normals over the Great Lakes region and over the western half of the nation except for below normal in the Pacific Northwest. Near normal temperature averages are expected in the remainder of the nation except for slightly below normal in the middle Atlantic states.

"Precipitation is expected to exceed normal in the Pacific Northwest, the western Great Lakes region and the middle and north Atlantic states. Subnormal amounts are anticipated for the plateau states, the far Southwest and in states bordering the Gulf of Mexico. In unspecified areas near normal rainfall is in prospect."

Desert Yields Fliers' Bodies

HEIDELBERG, Germany (AP)—The remains of two more crew members of the U.S. World War II bomber "Lady Be Good" have been found in the Libyan Desert, the U.S. Army said Wednesday.

One body was discovered early in May by geologists of a British oil company. The other was found by members of a 19-man U.S. Army search team which hunted the area for several weeks in April and May.

The Army said experts have identified the bodies but names will not be released until final determination has been made by a board of officers. This procedure is necessary to establish an identification admissable in court, the Army said.

The B24 bomber was discovered almost intact last year about 400 miles from the Mediterranean coast. It had made a pilotless belly landing after the crew parachuted while returning from a bombing raid on Naples, Italy, April 4, 1943.

Frederick Man, Son, 10, Missing In Boat Mishap

KNOXVILLE, Md. (AP) — A Frederick father and his son disappeared Wednesday night when a fishing boat capsized in the rain-swollen Potomac River. A teenage companion was rescued after he grabbed a tree branch and reached safety on an island.

Missing and presumed drowned were Daniel Woods, 32, and his 10-year-old son, Alan.

State Police and a fire department rescue squad from Brunswick, aided by floodlights, searched the river until late at night for the missing pair. About 10 boats were used in the search between Knoxville and Brunswick, a distance of about five miles.

A private plane, piloted by William Care of Brunswick, also was used in the search until grounded by darkness. The rescue attempt attracted about 1,000 persons.

Millard Mastrino, 19, also of Frederick, was rescued from the island about 45 minutes after the boat was swamped in water about eight feet above normal because of last week's rains.

Minimum Wage Compromise Set

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A House Labor subcommittee agreed informally Wednesday on a compromise bill which gradually would increase the $1-an-hour federal minimum wage to $1.25.

The bill would bring under the wage-hour law 4,182,000 workers—mostly in large retail stores—who are not now covered. Rep. James Roosevelt (D-Calif.), the bill's author, estimated that 3,280,000 current wage earners actually would get pay increases.

The subcommittee will place the compromise before the full 30-member labor committee Thursday.

Gina Boulevard

TORONTO (AP)—While Toronto officials dawdled over the idea of naming a street for Italian actress Gina Lollobrigida, who is settling soon in Toronto, the city fathers of suburban North York took concise, resolute action. They passed the Lollo part and named a street Gina boulevard.

Investigator Is Skeptical Of Testimony

Spokesman Denies Agency Aware U2s Used In Espionage

WASHINGTON (AP)—The civilian space agency's second in command denied Wednesday that his agency knew its U2 weather study planes were being used for spying. A Senate investigator was openly skeptical of this.

Testifying before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, Dr. Hugh L. Dryden said the National Aeronautics and Space Administration has "no intelligence activities either in the development of devices, methods, instruments or operations."

Dryden, NASA's deputy administrator, also told the committee the high-altitude U2s have made more than 200 weather research flights since 1956 but that the agency did not know just where the aircraft went until "after the fact."

Those flights, covering about 264,000 miles, generally were conducted in the United States, Western Europe, Turkey and Japan, he said.

Cover For Espionage

The space agency's deputy chief spoke behind closed doors and a transcript of his testimony was handed to reporters only after censors had deleted large segments of it. Reporters complained about this, but to no avail.

Meeting with newsmen after Dryden was excused, committee Chairman J. William Fulbright (D-Ark) said he does not believe that most NASA officials knew their agency was being used as a cover for aerial spying.

But of Dryden, Fulbright said: "This witness—he's had long experience—I think he knew a good deal about what was going on."

Fulbright said it was "a rather dangerous undertaking" to use the space agency as a cover for espionage.

However, he said Dryden's testimony showed the bulk of U2 flights were actually for study of upper-air turbulence and other weather data, as claimed.

Believes All U2s Grounded

In addition to the U2s, which he said he believed are all grounded now, Dryden told of NASA installing research instruments in both commercial and military planes, and of working with foreign governments.

Critics of the administration's actions in the U2 spy plane's loss in the Soviet Union a month ago have voiced concern that the space agency's avowedly scientific, nonmilitary role would be discredited as a result.

The committee is searching for the whys and wherefores on the U2 spy plane mission which ended in disaster in the Soviet Union two weeks before the summit talks were to open in Paris. In the wake of that ill-starred flight, those talks collapsed and U. S. Soviet relations became bitter.

The plane was downed May 1, and the first U.S. announcement soon afterward was a statement from NASA that one of its weather planes based in Turkey was missing.

This—and a later statement that the pilot may have blacked out

House Members' Expense Account Records To Be Bared

WASHINGTON (AP) —Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn (D-Tex) said Wednesday the expense account records of congressmen's spending from House funds will be open to public inspection as soon as arrangements can be made for their supervised examination.

At the moment these records are not available, by order of House clerk Ralph R. Roberts following publication of statements that dozens of expense account vouchers have been altered or amended in recent years.

Rayburn said Roberts' order will stand for the present, but the speaker indicated the ban on checking the vouchers may be lifted in a few days, perhaps Thursday. An aide indicated there will be conditions requiring that they not be photographed or physically removed from the clerk's custody.

The matter broke into the open with the publication of a copyrighted article in the Knight newspapers relating incidents of alteration of vouchers.

The story said receipts supporting the expense accounts were changed in some instances to show different expenditures than had first been listed.

Accordingly, it said some congressmen "spent tax dollars on trips to resort areas, or night club-bing and tipping aboard luxury liners."

Ike's Fault No Private Talks Held, Khrush Says

MOSCOW (AP)—Premier Nikita Khrushchev blamed President Eisenhower Wednesday for the fact that the two leaders had no private meeting either before or after the abortive Paris summit conference.

Khrushchev sought to drive home his contention that the U2 spy plane flight incident produced the latest break in Soviet-American relations, culminating in the blowup of the conference last month. Khrushchev maintained this was all Eisenhower's fault and said, "The first step was to be expected from the U. S. President and from him only."

Khrushchev gave new publicity to his point of view in an unusual front-page interview with the government newspaper Izvestia. It was transmitted abroad by Radio Moscow and Tass, Soviet news agency.

The Premier had said the same thing in some detail to a Kremlin meeting of Communist workers Saturday but apparently felt this point was buried in press accounts because the speech contained so much else.

The interview apparently to be one of a series of moves intended to impress on the world the Soviet leader's view that he should not be blamed for the failure of the summit.

The next one may be Friday, when correspondents are invited to a Kremlin news conference. They were not told who would hold the conference or what the subject would be.

Scripps-Howard Newspapers Back Johnson For Democratic Nomination

By The Associated Press

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas won the support of the Scripps-Howard newspapers Wednesday for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Such other possibilities as Sen. Stuart Symington of Moussiri and former Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois renewed their attacks on the Republican administration in speeches.

And the Democratic front runner, Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts, planned a Thursday visit with Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan, who might be persuaded to swing his 51 votes in the nominating convention to Kennedy.

Republicans, with nothing like the number of presidential candidates the Democrats have, made comparatively little news Wednesday.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York went to Syracuse, N.Y., to talk political strategy with GOP leaders of central New York. He also had a date with a cattlemen's association.

The Scripps-Howard papers, in endorsing Johnson for the Democratic nomination, said they would delay action on expressing support for a Republican to win his party's nomination.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon already has lined up more than enough delegate votes to give him the nomination, but the newspaper group expressed hope there would yet be a Republican contest.

The newspapers' stand was announced in an editorial in the New York World Telegram & Sun.

Nixon came under Democratic fire at Chicago, where Stevenson made his sixth speech in seven weeks.

Stevenson's audience was the convention of the Textile Workers Union of America, which on Tuesday endorsed Kennedy for the Democratic nomination.

Symington, at Oakland, Calif., told a gathering sponsored by the AFL-CIO that the Eisenhower administration has sadly neglected helping the health of citizens.

He proposed a 400-million-dollar medical program and said it could easily be financed with money to be saved from what he called flagrant waste in the administration.

Shepherd College Complaint Minors Served Alcoholic Beverages Probed

HAGERSTOWN (AP) — Chairman Allen Heller said Wednesday that evidence from the dean of students at Shepherd College protesting service of alcoholic beverages to minors will be presented to the Washington County Liquor Board Friday.

Heller in the meantime said an order has been issued for the American Legion in Sharpsburg to appear for a hearing to answer such charges.

The investigation is being launched as a result of a letter from Ormsby L. Harry, dean of students at Shepherd College in West Virginia across the Potomac River from Sharpsburg.

Harry stated that a "great number of Shepherd students find themselves in academic difficulties because of the immoderate use of alcoholic beverages."

He said that 75 per cent are under 21 years of age and urged help of the Washington County Liquor Board to see "that our students are not illegally served."

Harry submitted to the liquor board signed statements by students that they had been served in several places in Maryland.

Heller assured the dean that the liquor board of the Maryland county "will not tolerate deliberate disregard of the law."

Dean Harry said that Shepherd College has had complaints by Maryland State Police of noisy disturbances by its students.

The dean expressed regret in his letter to the liquor board but said he "sincerely believes" that if the Maryland establishments would discontinue serving the students the problem would be solved.

Laborer Faces Slaying Charge In Bizarre Case

PIKESVILLE, Md. (AP)—State Police reported Wednesday a 39-year-old laborer will be charged with the slaying of Ronald Lee Hawks.

The body of Hawks, 23, was found Tuesday by his father in the basement of an old farmhouse about three miles southwest of Bel Air.

Police said the charge would be filed against Willis Gullion, who lives in a trailer on Toll Gate Road near Bel Air. They said Harford County State's Atty. Harry E. Dyer Jr. plans to call a special session of the grand jury within 10 days to consider an indictment.

Hawks had been missing since February. Edgar P. Hawks, 65, found the body in a shallow grave and said the clothing looked like that of his son's. Samples of the victim's fingerprints will be sent to the FBI in Washington for positive identification.

The elder Hawks, a worker on a farm owned by Miss Julia Helen Robinson, of Fallston, told police he found the grave when he stopped at the farmhouse for a drink of water.

An autopsy performed in Baltimore showed the victim died of multiple skull injuries caused by a beating.

Police said Hawks had been married to a sister of Gullion, but was believed to have been separated from his wife at the time he disappeared.

Europeans Flee Congo As Independence Nears

LEOPOLDVILLE, Belgian Congo (AP)—Airlines put on extra planes Wednesday to fly more and more Europeans from the Congo. Tension is rising to near panic among whites with the approach of independence.

Europeans are hastily packing off their wives and children in the wake of stepped-up antiwhite threats published by African newspapers.

Chief concern is for the white women. African propagandists are boasting they will be "ours" after independence June 30. The newspaper of one native nationalist movement said soon it would no longer be a crime for Africans to rape white women. European women also have been receiving letters from Negroes seeking mistresses after independence.

Near Stanleyville, Africans have circulated lists of whites "invited" to leave before independence day or else be mistreated.

In copper-rich Katanga Province, a weekly recently published three lists of names: Europeans ordered to leave at once, those who had to leave before June 30 and those allowed to stay afterward.

In several centers, Europeans have been visited by Congolese who explained politely that the house would be theirs after June 30—and could they look inside please?

Congo has been going through parliamentary elections the last few weeks, in some cases with intertribal violence. A Congo government is due to be appointed June 20. Belgian civil servants are scheduled to remain in the Congo at least for some time.

Belgium has been sending reinforcements of European troops to its military bases in the Congo and relies on a force of about 25,000 well-trained and so far faithful Africans to maintain order. They are commanded by Europeans.

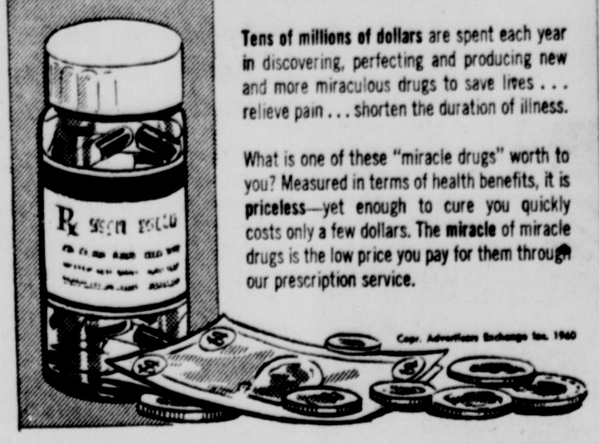

New Liner To Replace Queen Mary Proposed

LONDON (AP)—A government committee recommended Wednesday Britain build a 75,000-ton liner to replace the aging Queen Mary, due for retirement soon.

The committee said the new ship should have a speed of 29½ knots and a passenger capacity of 2,270—300 more than the Queen Mary.

The 81,237-ton Queen Mary, built in 1936, has roughly the same speed.

Case Of Errant Brink's Driver Marked Closed

CHICAGO (AP)—The books are closed on the Brink's, Inc., driver who, convinced the world was against him, wandered off to a bar with a $30,000 bag of money. And both parties are sorry.

Brink's is sorry, but it can't offer William Johnson, 57, his old job back. No insurance company would bond him, a spokesman said.

Johnson is sorriest of all for having given in to a wayward impulse April 8. He told Judge Alexander J. Napoli in Felony Court Wednesday: "I'm the sorriest man in the world."

Johnson explained he'd been drinking in the wee hours of April 8, had reported for work after only an hour's sleep and his supervisor "got on my nerves. Little things went wrong, and my nerves just popped."

Police found him in a saloon miles away from the armored truck he'd left unguarded. The bag of money was plumped on the next stool, minus $60.

Officials agreed to drop a felony charge of larceny against the veteran employe, in favor of a charge of petty larceny. Johnson thereupon changed his plea from innocent to guilty.

He received two years' probation.

Exhumation Slated In Insurance Dispute

BALTIMORE (AP)—The body of a Baltimore doctor who died June 11, 1959, may be exhumed to help settle a dispute over his insurance.

Federal Judge R. Dorsey Watkins decided Wednesday that the body of Dr. Raymond Kent Tongue Jr. should be exhumed and urged attorneys in the case to obtain the consent of relatives. The doctor died while playing golf.

The Kansas City Life Insurance Co. declined to pay $91,983 on an insurance policy taken out by Dr. Tongue in 1957. The firm contended that he was not in good health when the policy was issued, as he represented himself to be.

Attorneys for the Union Trust Co., trustee for the estate, brought suit to collect on the policy.

Chief Medical Examiner Russell S. Fisher testified that an autopsy now probably could fix the cause of death.

Lawrence Cites Leadership Need

EMMITSBURG, Md. (AP) — Gov. David L. Lawrence of Pennsylvania told 150 graduates at Mount St. Mary's College Wednesday that America is too preoccupied with material success.

"At some point," he said, "we must balance our economic position with our national philosophical convictions—and we have to become firm in our resolve."

In remarks prepared for delivery at the 152nd commencement at the college, Lawrence said:

"We have become soft and lazy . . .If things don't go well, we try to get someone else to do our job for us. The practice of bucking responsibility is so widespread that it draws hardly a comment when it happens in our offices and our homes."

Material success, he said, has brought a subtle but undeniable decay in the country's moral fiber.

He said that "instead of training young men and women to fit neatly into a comfortable niche of financial security, we must bring out in them those qualities of leadership which are the lifeblood of our nation."

The Kansas City Life Insurance Co. declined to pay $91,983 on an insurance policy taken out by Dr. Tongue in 1957. The firm contended that he was not in good health when the policy was issued, as he represented himself to be.

Attorneys for the Union Trust Co., trustee for the estate, brought suit to collect on the policy.

Chief Medical Examiner Russell S. Fisher testified that an autopsy now probably could fix the cause of death.

HOW MUCH WOULD YOU PAY FOR A MIRACLE?

Tens of millions of dollars are spent each year in discovering, perfecting and producing new and more miraculous drugs to save lives . . . relieve pain . . . shorten the duration of illness.

What is one of these "miracle drugs" worth to you? Measured in terms of health benefits, it is priceless—yet enough to cure you quickly costs only a few dollars. The miracle of miracle drugs is the low price you pay for them through our prescription service.

Convention Call Question Put To Attorney General

BALTIMORE (AP)—The attorney general was asked Wednesday for his opinion on the existing authority of the Legislature to call a convention to rewrite the Maryland constitution.

The question revolves around the pressure in the largest counties for more representation in the Legislature and was put by Del. Blair Lee (D-Montgomery).

The populous counties of Montgomery, Anne Arundel, Baltimore and Prince Georges lost out on two efforts at the last Legislature in their quest for increased representation.

A bill revising outright the formula for determining the number of state delegates failed in the House. Another calling a convention to rewrite the constitution at which reapportionment also could be accomplished passed the House, but failed in the Senate.

Lee wrote Attorney General Ferdinand Sybert that a similar constitutional convention bill is likely to be introduced to next year's Legislature.

He asked the state's top legal officer whether:

The Legislature may call a convention to rewrite the constitution any time it wishes.

Could it do so by authority of a popular vote approving such a convention in 1950.

Is there any other legal means by which a convention may be called before 1970 when the public is to vote again on the question.

Lee said he was prompted to ask the questions because of reports that Sybert might "have felt compelled to advise Gov. Tawes to veto" the constitutional convention bill of the past session if it had been passed.

Jacqueline Cross Is Honored At Shower Party

Mrs. Richard Klavuhn and Mrs. Robert Keyser entertained in compliment to their niece, Miss Jacqueline Ann Cross, with a miscellaneous bridal shower. It was held last evening at the former's home, 540 Greene Street.

Miss Cross is the fiancee of Richard W. Walker, and will become his bride June 4. The ceremony will be performed at 10 a. m. in St. Patrick's Catholic Church. The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn H. Cross Sr., 302 Beall Street. Her fiance is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Walker, Frostburg.

The bridal motif was carried out in the decorations, with red roses and white wedding bells used throughout the house. The refreshment table was centered with a wedding cake, also decorated with wedding bells and red roses, and inscribed, "Congratulations Jackie and Rick." The shower gifts were arranged beneath a white lace umbrella, with a shower of pastel colored streamers. The favors also were miniature umbrellas.

Appropriate games were played during the evening.

Guests included Mrs. Glenn Cross, Mrs. George Walker, Mrs. Margaret Jewett, Mrs. John Phillips, grandmothers of the bride-elect and her fiance, respectively; Miss Glenna Cross, Miss Judith McKenty, Mrs. John Phillips, Mrs. John Drummond, Mrs. Merrill Phillips, Mrs. Ellis Boal, Mrs. Margaret Beck, Mrs. John Leedy, Mrs. Robert Leedy, Mrs. Brandon Akers, Mrs. Dorothy McKenty, Mrs. Elaine Hammond, Mrs. John Aman, Miss Linda Klavuhn, Miss Debra Keyser, Miss Susan Cross, Mrs. Mar-Moorehead and Mrs. Daniel Walker.

A strawberry festival will be held at Mapleside Methodist Church basement tomorrow beginning at 4:30. Sponsored by the Senior MYF, light suppers also will be served and there will be pony rides for the children.

Club Has Invitation To Party

The Valley Road Homemakers Club heard talks on music and flowers and received an invitation to a garden party at the meeting yesterday at Central YMCA. Mrs. Elizabeth Nave conducted the meeting and extended an invitation to a garden party July 6 at her home, Bedford Road. Members are to come at 11 a. m. and bring a box lunch.

Members expressed praise for the style show held at the county meeting May 4 at the Ali Ghan Country Club. It was decided to send Mrs. H. T. Humphrey to RWSC. It was announced that plans have been made for a special coach on the B&O to go to College Park. The collect was read by Mrs. Lawrence Shafferman. The group sang, "This Is My Father's House," and "Battle Hymn of the Republic."

Mrs. Douglas Smith gave a demonstration and talk on arranging flowers. She explained that one must avoid cramming a large number of flowers in one vase, and should not force the blooms to change their natural direction. She suggested using attractive containers, but not so bright as to detract from the flowers. She advised when sending flowers to the hospital, to have them in containers, and to watch line and design in arranging flowers.

Roll call was answered with kinds of music one likes and why. Mrs. Edward W. Shaffer, county family life chairman, spoke on music. She said one will live as long without music, but not as well. Likes and dislikes of music express one's personality. She pointed out that music gives comfort in illness, sorrow and lonesomeness; and joy when happy; that music is a universal longing, and a savage with his drum in making music.

Concluding the meeting refreshments were served by Mrs. Karl Bachman, Mrs. Jack Means and Mrs. Charles Heller.

Passes Md. Board

Word has been received that Dr. Leroy Hare, 801 Howard Street, Alexandria, Va., has passed the Maryland State Board of Chiropractors.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Hare, Grand Avenue, Dr. Hare is a graduate of Fort Hill High School and Logan College, St. Louis, Mo. He is married to the former Miss Phyllis Nichols, New Hampshire Avenue. The couple has one son.

Dr. Hare now is employed as chemical technician for Standard Oil in Alexandria.

Memorial Auxiliary To Redecorate Pediatrics

Complete redecoration of the pediatric department, including new pajamas and robes for the children, was selected as the project of the year at the spring luncheon meeting of the Memorial Hospital Auxiliary yesterday at the Cumberland Country Club.

Mrs. William H. Ryan conducted the meeting and paid tribute to the late Mrs. G. Morgan Smith, who was a member of the auxiliary. After introducing her officers and directors, Mrs. Ryan announced that during the past year the auxiliary completed the redecoration of the hospital lobby, second floor waiting room and dispensary, as well as the work on the chapel.

Reports were given by the various chairmen, which included volunteer work hours; $2,308.45 cleared on the "Snow Ball"; books, card tables and chairs for the nurses home; and a membership of 301, with 54 new members this year.

Members were urged by Mrs. Gladys Brooks, superintendent of nurses, to write Governor Tawes in behalf of the Warfield Commission plan for making the state teacher colleges of Maryland branches of the University of Maryland. She also thanked the auxiliary for what it had done for beautifying the hospital and nurses' home.

Auxiliary meetings will be resumed early in October, when chairmen will present plans for the year. The surgical dressings, sewing groups and phases of the pediatric work will continue to function during the summer.

Preceding the luncheon the Nurses Choral Group, under the direction of Mrs. Russell Fink, with Miss Sandra Gurtler, sang "Someone To Watch Over Me," and "Somewhere over the Rainbow." The newly formed Nurses' Combo played "Enjoy Yourself," "Copenhagen," and "Sentimental Journey." The combo is composed of Lee Anne Clarke, pianist; Faye Kreger, bass viol; Betty Jane Dively, slide trombone; Eileen Bisel and Ruth Stuck, clarinets.

Mrs. Richard Klavuhn and Mrs. Robert Keyser entertained in compliment to their niece, Miss Jacqueline Ann Cross, with a miscellaneous bridal shower. It was held last evening at the former's home, 540 Greene Street.

Miss Cross is the fiancee of Richard W. Walker, and will become his bride June 4. The ceremony will be performed at 10 a. m. in St. Patrick's Catholic Church. The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn H. Cross Sr., 302 Beall Street. Her fiance is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Walker, Frostburg.

The bridal motif was carried out in the decorations, with red roses and white wedding bells used throughout the house. The refreshment table was centered with a wedding cake, also decorated with wedding bells and red roses, and inscribed, "Congratulations Jackie and Rick." The shower gifts were arranged beneath a white lace umbrella, with a shower of pastel colored streamers. The favors also were miniature umbrellas.

Appropriate games were played during the evening.

Guests included Mrs. Glenn Cross, Mrs. George Walker, Mrs. Margaret Jewett, Mrs. John Phillips, grandmothers of the bride-elect and her fiance, respectively; Miss Glenna Cross, Miss Judith McKenty, Mrs. John Phillips, Mrs. John Drummond, Mrs. Merrill Phillips, Mrs. Ellis Boal, Mrs. Margaret Beck, Mrs. John Leedy, Mrs. Robert Leedy, Mrs. Brandon Akers, Mrs. Dorothy McKenty, Mrs. Elaine Hammond, Mrs. John Aman, Miss Linda Klavuhn, Miss Debra Keyser, Miss Susan Cross, Mrs. Mar-Moorehead and Mrs. Daniel Walker.

Club Has Invitation To Party

The Valley Road Homemakers Club heard talks on music and flowers and received an invitation to a garden party at the meeting yesterday at Central YMCA. Mrs. Elizabeth Nave conducted the meeting and extended an invitation to a garden party July 6 at her home, Bedford Road. Members are to come at 11 a. m. and bring a box lunch.

Members expressed praise for the style show held at the county meeting May 4 at the Ali Ghan Country Club. It was decided to send Mrs. H. T. Humphrey to RWSC. It was announced that plans have been made for a special coach on the B&O to go to College Park. The collect was read by Mrs. Lawrence Shafferman. The group sang, "This Is My Father's House," and "Battle Hymn of the Republic."

Mrs. Douglas Smith gave a demonstration and talk on arranging flowers. She explained that one must avoid cramming a large number of flowers in one vase, and should not force the blooms to change their natural direction. She suggested using attractive containers, but not so bright as to detract from the flowers. She advised when sending flowers to the hospital, to have them in containers, and to watch line and design in arranging flowers.

Roll call was answered with kinds of music one likes and why. Mrs. Edward W. Shaffer, county family life chairman, spoke on music. She said one will live as long without music, but not as well. Likes and dislikes of music express one's personality. She pointed out that music gives comfort in illness, sorrow and lonesomeness; and joy when happy; that music is a universal longing, and a savage with his drum in making music.

Concluding the meeting refreshments were served by Mrs. Karl Bachman, Mrs. Jack Means and Mrs. Charles Heller.

Dr. Hare now is employed as chemical technician for Standard Oil in Alexandria.

Memorial Auxiliary To Redecorate Pediatrics

Complete redecoration of the pediatric department, including new pajamas and robes for the children, was selected as the project of the year at the spring luncheon meeting of the Memorial Hospital Auxiliary yesterday at the Cumberland Country Club.

Mrs. William H. Ryan conducted the meeting and paid tribute to the late Mrs. G. Morgan Smith, who was a member of the auxiliary. After introducing her officers and directors, Mrs. Ryan announced that during the past year the auxiliary completed the redecoration of the hospital lobby, second floor waiting room and dispensary, as well as the work on the chapel.

Reports were given by the various chairmen, which included volunteer work hours; $2,308.45 cleared on the "Snow Ball"; books, card tables and chairs for the nurses home; and a membership of 301, with 54 new members this year.

Members were urged by Mrs. Gladys Brooks, superintendent of nurses, to write Governor Tawes in behalf of the Warfield Commission plan for making the state teacher colleges of Maryland branches of the University of Maryland. She also thanked the auxiliary for what it had done for beautifying the hospital and nurses' home.

Auxiliary meetings will be resumed early in October, when chairmen will present plans for the year. The surgical dressings, sewing groups and phases of the pediatric work will continue to function during the summer.

Preceding the luncheon the Nurses Choral Group, under the direction of Mrs. Russell Fink, with Miss Sandra Gurtler, sang "Someone To Watch Over Me," and "Somewhere over the Rainbow." The newly formed Nurses' Combo played "Enjoy Yourself," "Copenhagen," and "Sentimental Journey." The combo is composed of Lee Anne Clarke, pianist; Faye Kreger, bass viol; Betty Jane Dively, slide trombone; Eileen Bisel and Ruth Stuck, clarinets.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: We are three career girls who make jokes about being "old-maids" but it's not funny any more.

We share a lovely apartment, get along famously and are successful in our business careers.

Our average is 31. For the past three years we've spent literally a small fortune on trips. In '58 we went to Europe, and in '59 we took a Caribbean cruise. This year we went to Mexico City. The net result—zero.

It's pretty discouraging to spend a pile of money on clothes, and travel and not meet even one eligible guy. When a gal has to write to Ann Landers, she's in pretty desperate shape, but I believe in being frank. Why have we struck out year after year?

—NO CATCH 'EM

DEAR NO CATCH 'EM: There's a great similarity between love and war. "Divide and conquer" works in both areas of struggle.

The cardinal rule for The Great Man Hunt is "DON'T HUNT IN PACKS." You girls should not be vacationing together. Two gals, fine—but never three. It's most unlikely that three girls will meet an interesting, eligible trio of males.

Next year, split the gleesome threesome and go in different directions. And P. S. a cruise is not likely to produce happy hunting for single gals. Most passengers are celebrating their 25th wedding anniversary. A resort makes much better sense.

DEAR ANN: I'm 23 and have been married almost four years. I can't talk this over with anyone because I'm ashamed. I'll say it the best way I can.

I am very anxious to have a family but my husband does not believe in sex. About six months after we married he told me that sex was a waste of time and energy and he wasn't interested in it.

Don't tell me to take him to see a minister or a marriage counselor. He won't go. He says anyone who can't solve their own problems is a bubble-head.

If I don't work six days a week I'd go out of my mind. No one would suspect we have this problem. He's affectionate when people are around. When we're alone he freezes up. Please help me.

A YOUNG WRECK

DEAR WRECK: Your husband is sick and needs a doctor. If it's taken you three and a half years to recognize that something is drastically wrong you may need a doctor, too.

Insist that your husband get medical attention at once. If he refuses to see a doctor, then you must see your clergyman. You should not be a victim of a kissless marriage and a life without children just because your husband has a clinker in his thinker.

DEAR ANN: Our daughter is 18 and by this time she should have outgrown her need for constant praise and endless compliments. Instead, it's worse than ever.

She's forever asking, "How do you like my hair? How does my new make-up look? Have you noticed that I'm on a good posture kick?" These are just a few of her praise-getting devices. Shall I tell her to grow up and quit fishing for compliments?

PERPLEXED MOM

DEAR MOM: Your daughter is insecure and hungry for reassurance, otherwise she would not be begging for compliments.

Try building her up without prompting. This will reduce the fishing.

Are you tempted to smoke because the crowd does? If so, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Teen-age Smoking," enclosing with your request 10 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed stamped envelope.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

Carbo Is Granted Review By Court

WASHINGTON (AP)—Hoodlum Frankie Carbo was granted a Supreme Court review Tuesday of his fight against being taken from New York State to Los Angeles for trial on extortion and conspiracy charges.

The high court will not hear arguments on the matter until next fall. So the Los Angeles trial, which had been set for July 12, will have to be deferred.

Carbo, 54, tabbed as the underworld czar of professional boxing, is serving two years in New York City Prison. The sentence was imposed Nov. 30, 1959 after he pleaded guilty to acting without licenses as a matchmaker and as a manager.

DEAR NO CATCH 'EM: There's a great similarity between love and war. "Divide and conquer" works in both areas of struggle.

The cardinal rule for The Great Man Hunt is "DON'T HUNT IN PACKS." You girls should not be vacationing together. Two gals, fine—but never three. It's most unlikely that three girls will meet an interesting, eligible trio of males.

Next year, split the gleesome threesome and go in different directions. And P. S. a cruise is not likely to produce happy hunting for single gals. Most passengers are celebrating their 25th wedding anniversary. A resort makes much better sense.

DEAR ANN: I'm 23 and have been married almost four years. I can't talk this over with anyone because I'm ashamed. I'll say it the best way I can.

I am very anxious to have a family but my husband does not believe in sex. About six months after we married he told me that sex was a waste of time and energy and he wasn't interested in it.

Don't tell me to take him to see a minister or a marriage counselor. He won't go. He says anyone who can't solve their own problems is a bubble-head.

If I don't work six days a week I'd go out of my mind. No one would suspect we have this problem. He's affectionate when people are around. When we're alone he freezes up. Please help me. A YOUNG WRECK

DEAR WRECK: Your husband is sick and needs a doctor. If it's taken you three and a half years to recognize that something is drastically wrong you may need a doctor, too.

Insist that your husband get medical attention at once. If he refuses to see a doctor, then you must see your clergyman. You should not be a victim of a kissless marriage and a life without children just because your husband has a clinker in his thinker.

DEAR ANN: Our daughter is 18 and by this time she should have outgrown her need for constant praise and endless compliments. Instead, it's worse than ever.

She's forever asking, "How do you like my hair? How does my new make-up look? Have you noticed that I'm on a good posture kick?" These are just a few of her praise-getting devices. Shall I tell her to grow up and quit fishing for compliments?

PERPLEXED MOM

DEAR MOM: Your daughter is insecure and hungry for reassurance, otherwise she would not be begging for compliments.

Try building her up without prompting. This will reduce the fishing.

Are you tempted to smoke because the crowd does? If so, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Teen-age Smoking," enclosing with your request 10 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed stamped envelope.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

Carbo Is Granted Review By Court

WASHINGTON (AP)—Hoodlum Frankie Carbo was granted a Supreme Court review Tuesday of his fight against being taken from New York State to Los Angeles for trial on extortion and conspiracy charges.

The high court will not hear arguments on the matter until next fall. So the Los Angeles trial, which had been set for July 12, will have to be deferred.

Carbo, 54, tabbed as the underworld czar of professional boxing, is serving two years in New York City Prison. The sentence was imposed Nov. 30, 1959 after he pleaded guilty to acting without licenses as a matchmaker and as a manager.

4-H Work Aired At Meeting Here

A conference was held yesterday at the Court House by Charlotte Conway of the 4-H Club staff at the University of Maryland Extension Service on the 4-H program in Allegany County.

Joseph M. Steger, county farm agent; James Arnold, assistant county farm agent and Miss Nancy Marsteller, assistant county home demonstration agent, met with Miss Conway. Miss Mary Wise, home demonstration agent, is on vacation this week.

The summer 4-H program on camping and other activities were reviewed and leadership training plans discussed.

Keyser Woman Injured In Crash

A Keyser woman was hospitalized following a one-vehicle accident Monday on Pennsylvania Route 96 about five miles south of Manns Choice.

Admitted to Bedford County Memorial Hospital was Mrs. William Burkett, 39, of 195 B Street, Keyser. Hospital attaches today reported her condition as "fair".

Pennsylvania State Police said the woman was "seriously" injured when the station wagon in which she was a passenger rolled over on the highway.

Police said Mrs. Burkett's husband William Burkett, 38, was passing several cars on the slippery highway. Police estimated he apparently lost control while operating the station wagon when about $1,000 damage to the vehicle.

Moore Honored For VFW Work

Paul W. Moore, immediate past commander of Henry Hart Post 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars, has been selected as one of 11 All-American Commanders of the year from among the 97 posts of the Department of Maryland.

The award was given Moore for his work as commander of the local VFW post during the past year. He is also Americanism chairman and patriotic instructor of the Department of Maryland.

The 11 men selected by the state VFW will be honored at the department convention in Baltimore on June 23 through June 26. They will receive diamond lapel pins. The group will also receive recognition in August at the national VFW convention to be held in Detroit.

Moore served with the Eighth Air Force in Europe during World War II. He was recently named advisor to Raymond Reynolds, newly-elected commander of the local post.

His wife, Mrs. Mary T. Moore, is a past president of the Auxiliary of the local post and is senior vice president of the third district of the VFW auxiliaries.

Moore is also a member of Fort Cumberland Post 13, American Legion, and Cumberland Council 586, Knights of Columbus.

Blown Fuse Blamed For Power Failure

A fuse on a transformer was blamed for plunging six Baltimore Street business establishments into darkness Tuesday night.

The transformer, according to a spokesman for the Potomac Edison Company, apparently became overloaded, causing the fuse to blow out. Yesterday the utility company put an instrument into service to check the load on the transformer.

The stores which were affected included The Manhattan, Fields Millinery, Cumberland Cloak and Suit Store's children's wear, Martin's, E. V. Coyle, and Thom McAn's shoe store.

ABL Firing Successful

A gigantic, plastic sphere, tall as a ten-story building, was successfully fired from Wallops Island, Va., Tuesday night.

Officials of Allegany Ballistics Laboratory at Pinto announced yesterday that the second stage of the Shot Put, an X248 Altair, was designed and developed at the local plant.

ABL is managed and operated by Hercules Powder Company for the Navy Bureau of Weapons.

A spokesman for the local plant said the X248 Altair is a high performance rocket motor designed for high altitudes, and Tuesday night's test was the 14th successful shot for the Altair.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said it was the fifth in a series of test launchings conducted in preparation for launching a balloon-type satellite from Cape Canaveral, Fla., later this summer.

The sphere blossomed into a bright star some 200 miles above the Virginia coastline at dusk Tuesday night, NASA officials said.

The huge aluminum-coated ball was a forerunner of lightweight satellites that will be used for relaying radio and television signals over great distances.

Plainly visible through the Washington area, it could be seen for 1,000 miles up and down the Atlantic Coast.

• The Approaching Space Adventure

Sometime this year one of the seven astronauts chosen to be the first American, possibly the first citizen of the world, to ascend from his native planet in quest of first-hand knowledge of the world of outer space, may take his historic ride. He will not go far, but he will be the first to ride a space vehicle powered by the Atlas rocket.

"Suborbital" flights—that is, flights within the earth's gravity—will be first on the timetable. There may be several of these prior to the first orbital flight. Sometime in 1961, after sufficient data has been accumulated in flights restricted to the atmosphere, one of the seven young aeronautical engineers will zoom aloft away from the protection of the planet's gravity and into a controlled orbit.

Since their selection as America's first team of space explorers, the seven young men have been undergoing a rigid physical and mental development program under the auspices of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. The astronauts have spent the last year studying individual specialties as well as undergoing strenuous physical stresses to familiarize themselves with the hazardous and unfamiliar work they are approaching.

As a team they probably already know more about their business than any group of men other than the scientists tediously putting together the pieces.

As the as yet unknown date of the launching of the first manned rocketship approaches, a renewed excitement over the age now beginning can be felt. Public interest in space exploration simmered down to a long wait after the initial satellite flurry. The interim period between discovery and exploration is now almost ended.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Flood Of Attack

On the Soviet South Asian Service, in English, Viktorov, a Soviet commentator, on May 14, said:

"In their own country, the U.S. ruling circles have every right to allow gangsterism, that unattractive ornament of the American way of life. But to make gangsterism a standard of international relations is an insult to the peoples' conscience and a defiance of the most elementary principles of human morality. No one has freed the United States from the obligation to submit to the existing standards of international law and no one will free it of this obligation, just as no society will consent to legalizing banditry no matter how much the criminal may claim that banditry is necessary for him."

It is a psychological curiosity that no one sees himself as others see him. Soviet Russia has regularly engaged in espionage, as Henry Cabot Lodge pointed out in inadequate detail before the United Nations. It is, of course, axiomatic that two wrongs do not make a right; nevertheless how does a country manage without espionage?

It is possible to ignore Khrushchev and to wait until a bomb or a missile knocks us out.

Unquestionably the Russians were and are still startled that an American plane could pierce the Soviet Empire for perhaps 1,800 miles before it was found. As Gromyko asked: What would we say if a Russian plane reached Chicago, Detroit or San Francisco? We would say that our defenses are not in order. Congressional committees would vie with each other to find out who is responsible for the failure and it undoubtedly would become a campaign issue.

There can be little doubt that if this plane pierced the Russian sky for 1,800 miles or any number of miles and its pilot had not defected to Soviet Russia, their defenses are not in order. The external excitement could have been organized to impress the Russian pople with the wickedness of the Americans that they should not look too closely at the inefficiency of the Russian defense. This is, of course, a speculative view but so is about everything else brought into this particular discussion.

In this same broadcast — always official — it is proposed:

"The summit conference will be successful only if it is able to continue the sharp about-face in international relations which began to be evident after the meetings of Nikita Khrushchev with Prime Minister Macmillan, President Eisenhower, and President de Gaulle. But for that to take place the U.S. political leaders must resolutely renounce those brink-of-war methods that have been so markedly evident especially in recent weeks—and not only renounce them, but back it up by concrete deeds . . ."

This statement clearly shows that before Khrushchev killed the Summit Conference on May 17, the Soviet radio was already preparing world opinion for its collapse and blaming the United States for it. In a Pravda editorial published two days before the Summit Conference, this appears:

"Today, the Soviet people tell all who are fond of all sorts of military adventures: The USSR will not tolerate such aggressive acts, and, in the event of any repetition, will take most decisive measures in reply. We will go on destroying all aggressors who raise a hand against us."

According to the Russian report, Francis Gary Powers, the plane pilot, said:

"In accordance with the contract which was signed by me with the CIA of the United States, I am pilot of the special air detachment of the United States dealing with the collection of information about operational raid stations and radar on the territory of the USSR, (and) I suppose, about locations of rockets.

"Our air detachment is permanently located at the U.S.-Turkish air base, Incirclik, near the city of Adana, Turkey. I have been serving in this detachment since August 1956, and each year flew several times in a special U-2 high-altitude plane along the borders of the USSR with Turkey, Iran, and Afghanistan. Besides, in 1956-1957 I made three or four flights over the Black Sea without crossing the (word indistinct) state borders of the USSR. It is difficult for me to recall the numbers of such flights, but I flew repeatedly."

If this is true, many flights were made over Russia. If this is so, and it appears to be, why did Russia select this one trip to make such a fuss?

Down With The Fever Again

Kremlin Misled By Democrats' Partisanship

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — To what extent has Nikita Khrushchev been encouraged by prominent Democrats in this country to believe that it is no longer worth while to negotiate with President Eisenhower because a Democratic administration is coming into power next January, when presumably things would be easier for the Soviets?

This question may become as important as the one the Democrats have raised in blaming the President for the collapse of the "summit" conference. In fact, Adlai Stevenson was quoted in an interview published in Paris on the eve of the conference as promising that major changes in foreign policy would come after the November elections in this country.

Mr. Stevenson at first denied that he gave the interview to the Paris newspaperman, Robert Boulay, but the next day he admitted it and said the French visitor at his home wasn't very good with his English and doubtless misinterpreted what was said by Mr. Stevenson in the same interview.

This correspondent published the Stevenson denials, but now is in receipt of a letter from Howard N. Fowler, managing editor of the "Mansfield (Mass.) News," which throws new light on the controversy. He writes:

"Robert Boulay was in the United States on a tour arranged by Mr. William Hadley Jr., of the Governmental Affairs Institute, Washington. As a former Mansfieldian, Hadley is an acquaintance of mine. He asked if I would host Boulay for a few days to enable the visitor to get a little of the flavor of small-town American grass roots. I accepted.

"Be assured, Boulay does speak fluent English, although this was his first visit to the United States. He lived in my home four days, was introduced to many of my friends, and was found to be a most interesting and articulate fellow at a small dinner which I hosted.

"Almost instantly upon his arrival at Boston's Logan Airfield, Boulay expressed grave concern over an interview he had with Adlai Stevenson. He repeated to me many times this concern.

"First, he was concerned because, in effect, Stevenson had said to Boulay, 'This is off the record,' and in the same interview commented, 'I'm not telling you anything I haven't said a thousand times before.'

"The enclosed copy of our 'News' has a brief reference to Boulay's concern. Boulay told several of us here that he asked Stevenson if he could foresee change in American foreign policy. Boulay reported that Stevenson said without hesitation, 'Drastic change.'

"Boulay said he pressed Stevenson for amplification. Stevenson said he would gradually withdraw American troops from Germany.

"Stevenson told Boulay, or plainly inferred, that he is not averse to compromise with Russia and concessions in the nuclear field. In the short time Boulay was in Mansfield, during which he dined one evening with me, a ranking lawyer, a New England business executive, a greenhouse operator, a radio-station president and others, he left the impression of being a very serious-minded chap, well educated, very well read, unusually conversant with world affairs, and very much disturbed by what Stevenson said. As he left my home for the ride to Boston for his departure, he continued to ask, 'What can I do?' and he continued: 'If I print what Stevenson said to me, I could stir great concern in France; it would be bad, perhaps.'

"If I am a fair judge of newsmen, after 40 years' service myself, Boulay is a dedicated reporter who very likely heard what Adlai had to say with complete understanding."

The April 21 issue of the "Mansfield News" quoted Boulay as saying he had important information which he was forced to "sit on" because of his off-the-record pledge with Stevenson. When Boulay got to Paris, he evidently made up his mind that, just as American Senators and Representatives often "leak" to the press information from confidential off-the-record sessions and justify this as being "in the public interest," he would do the same.

So the "Paris-Presse" published the interview in detail, and Nikita Khrushchev read it before the Paris conference began. In fact, he paraphrased one of the quotations in a speech he delivered a few days later.

The Kremlin has for many months been given to understand by leading Democrats in this country, through their published utterances, that if a Democratic administration comes into power, things will be better for the Moscow regime. What the Kremlin doesn't understand, however, is that all this is largely just partisan politics and that, if the Democrats do win the Presidency, their foreign policy probably will not differ much from that of the preceding administration. It does illustrate perhaps the lack of "coordination" among the Democratic leaders just now and their faulty sense of "timing" as they continue to harp on their own government's alleged mistakes in the U-2 incident.

SKY SPY — Allen Dulles, head of the Central Intelligence Agency, which presumably was the real boss of the American aviator whose reconnaissance plane was downed in Russia, is getting a rough time in Congress.

Despite surface unity on Capitol Hill backing the necessity of such flights, some Congressional leaders are hopping mad over the event which has uncovered serious holes in co-ordination of CIA's activities.

They are trying to revive a longtime effort to create a Congressional "watchdog" committee to supervise the activies of CIA, whose workings are so secret not even its appropriations are known.

If they are successful, Dulles will resign and retire to private life. He has long told friends that he will not tolerate that kind of interference, and what he calls "snooping," from the Hill. Dulles is careful to explain he has no objections to informing selected Senators and Congressmen secretly on all details of CIA operations.

However, Dulles points out, all such "watchdog" committees have paid staffs. He states, with some heat, that he could not be responsible for the government's most cherished secret operations if they are to be shared with personnel over whom he does not have direct control or responsibility.

Penicillin Now Most Common Cause Of Hives

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Penicillin has replaced strawberries and seafood as the most common cause of hives. More than 60 drugs are listed as affecting the skin, including aspirin, cathartics, sleeping tablets, tonics, vitamins, tranquilizers, hormones, and other antibiotics. Additional offenders are nose-drops, ointments, troches, contraceptives, and cosmetics.

Hives are localized swellings or small mounds of fluid in the skin. The wheals itch and sting and vary in size from a pinhead to the palm of the hand. Swelling may subside in a few minutes or last most of the day. As old lesions subside, new ones take their place.

The antihistaminics are 85 per cent effective in eliminating distress. Ephedrine and steroids such as ACTH and cortisone help. Milder hives, including those caused by certain insect bites, will respond to calamine lotion or other soothing products.

Lasting results are obtained only when the causative agent is uncovered and eliminated. For this reason, it is wise to keep track of the foods and drugs used within 24 hours after the development of hives.

The culprit also may be dust, animal dander, something that is touched, or physical agents—heat, cold, light.

There are more subtle origins, including emotional stress. The devoted mother of a married woman broke out in hives after she learned her only daughter had cancer. Whenever the patient's symptoms grew worse, the mother's lesions became worse. When the end came, the mother was heartbroken but as soon as she adjusted to the loss, her hives disappeared.

TOMORROW: Amebiasis, an intestinal infection.

PENICILLIN IN MILK

J. B. writes: Does a person get any penicillin in milk?

REPLY

Milk should not contain penicillin unless it came from a cow that was undergoing treatment for a diseased udder. Some states have laws making it illegal to sell milk from a cow that received penicillin within 48 hours. This is done to protect individuals who are extremely sensitive to penicillin. These persons might develop a severe reaction even though the milk contains only an infinitesimal amount of the antibiotic.

MOUTH PATCHES

U. N. writes: What is done for a disease of the mouth called white lace?

REPLY

This expression is new to me unless you refer to leucoplakia, a precancerous whitish patch in the mouth. The lesion often disappears if the victim eliminates all irritation, including tobacco and highly seasoned foods. If this is not effective, removal is possible through surgery or radiation.

GET THE HOOK

R. L. writes: How is hookworm treated?

REPLY

A variety of drugs to eliminate the parasite is available but a single dose of tetrachlor-ethylene is the most effective.

This remedy should not be followed by a purgative. If dizziness or headache follows taking the medicine, these symptoms can be remedied or minimized by resting for an hour or two afterward.

MINIATURE X-RAYS

Mrs. J. writes: Will the small X-rays given free show heart trouble, bronchitis, and cancer (if present) as well as tuberculosis?

REPLY

Miniature X-rays show whether the heart is enlarged or otherwise abnormal in size as well as tuberculosis and cancer. But their lack of detail makes diagnosis impossible. As a result, larger X-rays are suggested whenever there is a questionable abnormality.

ICE CHEWER

Mrs. D writes: Why would a woman of 44 chew ice cubes all day long?

REPLY

Many persons have perverted appetites and the least harmful is chewing on ice. It has nothing to do with hot flashes.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

A brand new father was vitally concerned with every minute detail regarding his infant prodigy. One morning his wife called up to report, "Baby's got something in his mouth and I can't see what is is. Would it be okay for me to put my finger in to find out?"

After grave consideration, the new papa answered dubiously, "I guess it won't hurt — but darling, be sure: boil the finger first!"

A columnist describes a rather novel approach made by a notorious grafter to an easy touch at the Lambs' Club. "Byrnie," whined the grafter, "I'm not seeking to borrow money from you again this time. But I'm writing home to my poor old mother —and I thought you could tell me how to spell 'malnutrition.'"

Most memorable of the eulogies delivered at the funeral of Mark Twain consisted of a single sentence: "This is the first day you have made us sad."

Probers May Ask Hagerty Why Ike Took Responsibility For U-2 Flight

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—Never before has a White House press secretary been investigated by Congress—either under the Democrats or the Republicans. However, members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee are seriously considering summoning the astute Mr. James Hagerty to see what role he played in the tragedy of Paris.

Already Senatorial cross-examination has poked a series of incredulous questions at why the President of the United States personally should assume responsibility for spying. And some Senators suspect Jim Hagerty is the guilty party.

"Is the public assumption and responsibility for espionage by the head of a state the customary practice among nations?" Chairman Fulbright of Arkansas incredulously asked Secretary of State Herter.

"No," replied Herter, "the general practice has been to deny any personal responsibility whatever."

Fulbright then cross-examined Herter at some length wanting to know why the Eisenhower administration had departed from long tradition and had the head of state, namely Eisenhower himself, take responsibility for the U-2 incident. Herter could give no satisfactory explanation.

"Was it not after the President said he took full responsibility for these flights that Chairman Khrushchev became completely intransigent and wrecked the conference?" asked Fulbright.

The Secretary of State, obviously protecting his boss, gave a roundabout and rather evasive answer.

Hagerty's Protective Strategy

Reason why Senators suspect Jim Hagerty had a hand in this unusual decision to have Eisenhower himself assume responsibility for the spy flights—which many believe clinched the wreckage of the conference — is Hagerty's tactics in the past.

Hagerty, without question the smartest press secretary in history, has had one all-important problem. It is to hide from the public the fact that Eisenhower is not really running his administration.

Though the public by this time has learned that the President spends a great deal of time away from his desk, Hagerty has built up the image of an executive who knows exactly what is going on regardless of absence and is at all times in alert command.

To that end, the unfailing Hagerty arranges for a battery of photographers to take pictures of Ike signing bills into law during golfing vacations. And he has batteries of Cabinet officers fly to Georgia, Gettysburg, and other vacation spots to confer with the President for a half hour or so before he goes out on the golf course.

Hagerty has also sent instructions to all press relations officials inside the government to guard against any statement that would give any hint that the President does not know what's happening on any and every problem.

Finally, Hagerty has done a phenomenal job of briefing the President before every press conference, with the result that Ike has turned a chore that he hated into a definite public relations asset.

All of Hagerty's shrewd public relations strategy fits into the picture which the President painted for himself at the fateful press conference of May 11 when he announced to the world that he was responsible for the spy flights and gave the impression they would continue.

This unquestionably was what caused Khrushchev to come to Paris his jaw set against any meeting with Eisenhower unless he got an apology. Previous to this, Khrushchev had carefully exempted Eisenhower from his criticism, had said he was sure his friend Eisenhower did not know about the U-2 flights.

And Secretary Herter, in the first admission that the spy flights had been undertaken, was also careful to exempt Eisenhower from knowledge or responsibility.

Then someone reversed all this. Someone had President Eisenhower stand up in press conference and announce to the world that he knew all about the spy flights and that he was responsible — thus cutting the ground out from under any chance of a Paris reconciliation without the humiliation of an apology.

The reversal has all the earmarks of Hagerty's public relations strategy—the strategy of making Ike look as if he knew exactly what was going on in his administration.

Senators probing the tragedy of Paris don't really expect to get the real facts out of Hagerty or other White House officials. But they know Jim was in on part of the U-2 huddles; they know Ike made his historic statement at a press conference when Hagerty was in charge, and they may endeavor to see just how much of the real inside they can get from the smart public relations man whose zeal to protect the President was greater than his zeal for protecting peace.

London Viewpoint

By Joseph Alsop

LONDON

As usual after a fairly harrowing experience, the Western leaders are making a great to-do about their past solidarity and present identity of views. The protestations are loudest in London, perhaps because the views of London are the furthest from being identical with the views of the other allies.

There is a single basic reason why Prime Minister Macmillan's views differ from the views of President Eisenhower, and differ even more widely from the views of Gen. de Gaulle. Macmillan's calculation of the risks of the cold war is decidedly more sombre than Eisenhower's calculation, and very much more sombre than de Gaulle's.

The difference was neatly expressed by the contrasting French, American and British reactions in the period of uncertainty just prior to Nikita S. Khrushchev's Berlin speech announcing that he would do nothing for six to eight months, when another summit conference might be convened.

In this brief moment after the explosion at the summit, the French were blandly unconcerned, because they were just about dead certain Khrushchev would do nothing ugly. The Americans thought there was a possibility that Khrushchev, in Berlin, would proclaim a separate peace treaty with East Germany, and thereby start a truly warlike crisis. But the Americans were also not greatly concerned because this possibility seemed to them very slim.

The British, in contrast, thought there was a very good possibility that Khrushchev would take the extreme step he has so often threatened to take. The professional foreign office staff believe and said the odds were against it, but their estimate of the odds was at least rather more pessimistic than the American estimate.

The British Foreign Secretary, Selwyn Lloyd, meanwhile gave even odds that Khrushchev would proclaim a separate peace treaty: but added that it was also an even bet that Khrushchev would proclaim his treaty in a way that would avoid a warlike crisis. In other words, Lloyd saw one chance in four of the worst outcome. Prime Minister Harold Macmillan evidently took a darker view than his foreign secretary, at least just after the first explosion at the summit and before Khrushchev left Paris. Macmillan is known to have been deeply disturbed by the scene at the first meeting on Monday.

There was nothing new in these divergences in calculating the Berlin risks. The differences in calculation appeared especially clearly in the moment of time when the whole world waited to hear what Khrushchev would say in Berlin. But the same differences in calculation in fact marked French and American and British thinking about the Berlin crisis, from the first moment when Khrushchev began to roar his threats against Berlin in November 1958.

General de Gaulle always stood at one end of the spectrum, stoutly asserting that Khrushchev would not carry out his threats if the West merely stood firm, and issued the warning, "we'll fight if you move." He did not oppose negotiating with the Russians, but his ideas about the right way to negotiate were unbending, to say the least. They were best summed up in the famous speech at Geneva, last spring, when Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville in effect told Andrei Gromyko:

"You are the one who is asking for changes in a Berlin situation which is entirely satisfactory to us; and it's therefore up to you to propose new arrangements which will, first of all, suit us."

By the same token, Prime Minister Macmillan always stood at the other end of the spectrum, warning from the first that Khrushchev's threats had to be taken seriously, and pointing out the impossible difficulty of any defense of Berlin except by an H-bomb war. Holding this view, the Prime Minister was not merely urgent to negotiate. He was also ready to make considerable concessions at Berlin, in the hope of finding new arrangements that would suit the Russians without sacrificing the West Berliners' freedom.

President Eisenhower, meanwhile, from the first stood at about the middle of the spectrum. In other words, he thought that Khrushchev just might mean what he kept saying. After some initial reluctance, he was ready and finally eager to negotiate. And he too was willing to make some concessions at Berlin, although not so many concessions as Prime Minister Macmillan might have wished.

The styles of behavior, the policy judgments and the actions of the three Western leaders were in truth determined, throughout the Berlin crisis, by their different risk calculations. They worked together as loyal allies, but they approached each problem from a different point of departure.

It must be added that the fact that Prime Minister Macmillan's point of departure was the most sombre of the three risk-calculations by no means implies weakness, or timorousness, or disloyalty to the alliance. It merely implies that Macmillan takes the cold war more seriously than either of his other partners. In the outcome, at least thus far, the viewpoint of Gen de Gaulle has been justified by events. But the future really depends on calculations of risk made in the recesses of the Kremlin; and in these circumstances, it is only prudent to take the cold war very seriously indeed.

• The Approaching Space Adventure

Sometime this year one of the seven astronauts chosen to be the first American, possibly the first citizen of the world, to ascend from his native planet in quest of first-hand knowledge of the world of outer space, may take his historic ride. He will not go far, but he will be the first to ride a space vehicle powered by the Atlas rocket.

"Suborbital" flights—that is, flights within the earth's gravity—will be first on the timetable. There may be several of these prior to the first orbital flight. Sometime in 1961, after sufficient data has been accumulated in flights restricted to the atmosphere, one of the seven young aeronautical engineers will zoom aloft away from the protection of the planet's gravity and into a controlled orbit.

Since their selection as America's first team of space explorers, the seven young men have been undergoing a rigid physical and mental development program under the auspices of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. The astronauts have spent the last year studying individual specialties as well as undergoing strenuous physical stresses to familiarize themselves with the hazardous and unfamiliar work they are approaching.

As a team they probably already know more about their business than any group of men other than the scientists tediously putting together the pieces.

As the as yet unknown date of the launching of the first manned rocketship approaches, a renewed excitement over the age now beginning can be felt. Public interest in space exploration simmered down to a long wait after the initial satellite flurry. The interim period between discovery and exploration is now almost ended.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Flood Of Attack

On the Soviet South Asian Service, in English, Viktorov, a Soviet commentator, on May 14, said:

"In their own country, the U.S. ruling circles have every right to allow gangsterism, that unattractive ornament of the American way of life. But to make gangsterism a standard of international relations is an insult to the peoples' conscience and a defiance of the most elementary principles of human morality. No one has freed the United States from the obligation to submit to the existing standards of international law and no one will free it of this obligation, just as no society will consent to legalizing banditry no matter how much the criminal may claim that banditry is necessary for him."

It is a psychological curiosity that no one sees himself as others see him. Soviet Russia has regularly engaged in espionage, as Henry Cabot Lodge pointed out in inadequate detail before the United Nations. It is, of course, axiomatic that two wrongs do not make a right; nevertheless how does a country manage without espionage?

It is possible to ignore Khrushchev and to wait until a bomb or a missile knocks us out.

Unquestionably the Russians were and are still startled that an American plane could pierce the Soviet Empire for perhaps 1,800 miles before it was found. As Gromyko asked: What would we say if a Russian plane reached Chicago, Detroit or San Francisco? We would say that our defenses are not in order. Congressional committees would vie with each other to find out who is responsible for the failure and it undoubtedly would become a campaign issue.

There can be little doubt that if this plane pierced the Russian sky for 1,800 miles or any number of miles and its pilot had not defected to Soviet Russia, their defenses are not in order. The external excitement could have been organized to impress the Russian pople with the wickedness of the Americans that they should not look too closely at the inefficiency of the Russian defense. This is, of course, a speculative view but so is about everything else brought into this particular discussion.

In this same broadcast — always official — it is proposed:

"The summit conference will be successful only if it is able to continue the sharp about-face in international relations which began to be evident after the meetings of Nikita Khrushchev with Prime Minister Macmillan, President Eisenhower, and President de Gaulle. But for that to take place the U.S. political leaders must resolutely renounce those brink-of-war methods that have been so markedly evident especially in recent weeks—and not only renounce them, but back it up by concrete deeds . . ."

This statement clearly shows that before Khrushchev killed the Summit Conference on May 17, the Soviet radio was already preparing world opinion for its collapse and blaming the United States for it. In a Pravda editorial published two days before the Summit Conference, this appears:

"Today, the Soviet people tell all who are fond of all sorts of military adventures: The USSR will not tolerate such aggressive acts, and, in the event of any repetition, will take most decisive measures in reply. We will go on destroying all aggressors who raise a hand against us."

According to the Russian report, Francis Gary Powers, the plane pilot, said:

"In accordance with the contract which was signed by me with the CIA of the United States, I am pilot of the special air detachment of the United States dealing with the collection of information about operational raid stations and radar on the territory of the USSR, (and) I suppose, about locations of rockets.

"Our air detachment is permanently located at the U.S.-Turkish air base, Incirclik, near the city of Adana, Turkey. I have been serving in this detachment since August 1956, and each year flew several times in a special U-2 high-altitude plane along the borders of the USSR with Turkey, Iran, and Afghanistan. Besides, in 1956-1957 I made three or four flights over the Black Sea without crossing the (word indistinct) state borders of the USSR. It is difficult for me to recall the numbers of such flights, but I flew repeatedly."

If this is true, many flights were made over Russia. If this is so, and it appears to be, why did Russia select this one trip to make such a fuss?

Kremlin Misled By Democrats' Partisanship

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — To what extent has Nikita Khrushchev been encouraged by prominent Democrats in this country to believe that it is no longer worth while to negotiate with President Eisenhower because a Democratic administration is coming into power next January, when presumably things would be easier for the Soviets?

This question may become as important as the one the Democrats have raised in blaming the President for the collapse of the "summit" conference. In fact, Adlai Stevenson was quoted in an interview published in Paris on the eve of the conference as promising that major changes in foreign policy would come after the November elections in this country.

Mr. Stevenson at first denied that he gave the interview to the Paris newspaperman, Robert Boulay, but the next day he admitted it and said the French visitor at his home wasn't very good with his English and doubtless misinterpreted what was said by Mr. Stevenson in the same interview.

This correspondent published the Stevenson denials, but now is in receipt of a letter from Howard N. Fowler, managing editor of the "Mansfield (Mass.) News," which throws new light on the controversy. He writes:

"Robert Boulay was in the United States on a tour arranged by Mr. William Hadley Jr., of the Governmental Affairs Institute, Washington. As a former Mansfieldian, Hadley is an acquaintance of mine. He asked if I would host Boulay for a few days to enable the visitor to get a little of the flavor of small-town American grass roots. I accepted.

"Be assured, Boulay does speak fluent English, although this was his first visit to the United States. He lived in my home four days, was introduced to many of my friends, and was found to be a most interesting and articulate fellow at a small dinner which I hosted.

"Almost instantly upon his arrival at Boston's Logan Airfield, Boulay expressed grave concern over an interview he had with Adlai Stevenson. He repeated to me many times this concern.

"First, he was concerned because, in effect, Stevenson had said to Boulay, 'This is off the record,' and in the same interview commented, 'I'm not telling you anything I haven't said a thousand times before.'

"The enclosed copy of our 'News' has a brief reference to Boulay's concern. Boulay told several of us here that he asked Stevenson if he could foresee change in American foreign policy. Boulay reported that Stevenson said without hesitation, 'Drastic change.'

"Boulay said he pressed Stevenson for amplification. Stevenson said he would gradually withdraw American troops from Germany.

"Stevenson told Boulay, or plainly inferred, that he is not averse to compromise with Russia and concessions in the nuclear field. In the short time Boulay was in Mansfield, during which he dined one evening with me, a ranking lawyer, a New England business executive, a greenhouse operator, a radio-station president and others, he left the impression of being a very serious-minded chap, well educated, very well read, unusually conversant with world affairs, and very much disturbed by what Stevenson said. As he left my home for the ride to Boston for his departure, he continued to ask, 'What can I do?' and he continued: 'If I print what Stevenson said to me, I could stir great concern in France; it would be bad, perhaps.'

"If I am a fair judge of newsmen, after 40 years' service myself, Boulay is a dedicated reporter who very likely heard what Adlai had to say with complete understanding."

The April 21 issue of the "Mansfield News" quoted Boulay as saying he had important information which he was forced to "sit on" because of his off-the-record pledge with Stevenson. When Boulay got to Paris, he evidently made up his mind that, just as American Senators and Representatives often "leak" to the press information from confidential off-the-record sessions and justify this as being "in the public interest," he would do the same.

So the "Paris-Presse" published the interview in detail, and Nikita Khrushchev read it before the Paris conference began. In fact, he paraphrased one of the quotations in a speech he delivered a few days later.

The Kremlin has for many months been given to understand by leading Democrats in this country, through their published utterances, that if a Democratic administration comes into power, things will be better for the Moscow regime. What the Kremlin doesn't understand, however, is that all this is largely just partisan politics and that, if the Democrats do win the Presidency, their foreign policy probably will not differ much from that of the preceding administration. It does illustrate perhaps the lack of "coordination" among the Democratic leaders just now and their faulty sense of "timing" as they continue to harp on their own government's alleged mistakes in the U-2 incident.

After some initial reluctance, he was ready and finally eager to negotiate. And he too was willing to make some concessions at Berlin, although not so many concessions as Prime Minister Macmillan might have wished.

The styles of behavior, the policy judgments and the actions of the three Western leaders were in truth determined, throughout the Berlin crisis, by their different risk calculations. They worked together as loyal allies, but they approached each problem from a different point of departure.

It must be added that the fact that Prime Minister Macmillan's point of departure was the most sombre of the three risk-calculations by no means implies weakness, or timorousness, or disloyalty to the alliance. It merely implies that Macmillan takes the cold war more seriously than either of his other partners. In the outcome, at least thus far, the viewpoint of Gen de Gaulle has been justified by events. But the future really depends on calculations of risk made in the recesses of the Kremlin; and in these circumstances, it is only prudent to take the cold war very seriously indeed.

Penicillin Now Most Common Cause Of Hives

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Penicillin has replaced strawberries and seafood as the most common cause of hives. More than 60 drugs are listed as affecting the skin, including aspirin, cathartics, sleeping tablets, tonics, vitamins, tranquilizers, hormones, and other antibiotics. Additional offenders are nose-drops, ointments, troches, contraceptives, and cosmetics.

Hives are localized swellings or small mounds of fluid in the skin. The wheals itch and sting and vary in size from a pinhead to the palm of the hand. Swelling may subside in a few minutes or last most of the day. As old lesions subside, new ones take their place.

The antihistaminics are 85 per cent effective in eliminating distress. Ephedrine and steroids such as ACTH and cortisone help. Milder hives, including those caused by certain insect bites, will respond to calamine lotion or other soothing products.

Lasting results are obtained only when the causative agent is uncovered and eliminated. For this reason, it is wise to keep track of the foods and drugs used within 24 hours after the development of hives.

The culprit also may be dust, animal dander, something that is touched, or physical agents—heat, cold, light.

There are more subtle origins, including emotional stress. The devoted mother of a married woman broke out in hives after she learned her only daughter had cancer. Whenever the patient's symptoms grew worse, the mother's lesions became worse. When the end came, the mother was heartbroken but as soon as she adjusted to the loss, her hives disappeared.

TOMORROW: Amebiasis, an intestinal infection.

PENICILLIN IN MILK

J. B. writes: Does a person get any penicillin in milk?

REPLY

Milk should not contain penicillin unless it came from a cow that was undergoing treatment for a diseased udder. Some states have laws making it illegal to sell milk from a cow that received penicillin within 48 hours. This is done to protect individuals who are extremely sensitive to penicillin. These persons might develop a severe reaction even though the milk contains only an infinitesimal amount of the antibiotic.

MOUTH PATCHES

U. N. writes: What is done for a disease of the mouth called white lace?

REPLY

This expression is new to me unless you refer to leucoplakia, a precancerous whitish patch in the mouth. The lesion often disappears if the victim eliminates all irritation, including tobacco and highly seasoned foods. If this is not effective, removal is possible through surgery or radiation.

GET THE HOOK

R. L. writes: How is hookworm treated?

REPLY

A variety of drugs to eliminate the parasite is available but a single dose of tetrachlor-ethylene is the most effective.

This remedy should not be followed by a purgative. If dizziness or headache follows taking the medicine, these symptoms can be remedied or minimized by resting for an hour or two afterward.

MINIATURE X-RAYS

Mrs. J. writes: Will the small X-rays given free show heart trouble, bronchitis, and cancer (if present) as well as tuberculosis?

REPLY

Miniature X-rays show whether the heart is enlarged or otherwise abnormal in size as well as tuberculosis and cancer. But their lack of detail makes diagnosis impossible. As a result, larger X-rays are suggested whenever there is a questionable abnormality.

ICE CHEWER

Mrs. D writes: Why would a woman of 44 chew ice cubes all day long?

REPLY

Many persons have perverted appetites and the least harmful is chewing on ice. It has nothing to do with hot flashes.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Persons replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

A brand new father was vitally concerned with every minute detail regarding his infant prodigy. One morning his wife called up to report, "Baby's got something in his mouth and I can't see what is. Would it be okay for me to put my finger in to find out?"

After grave consideration, the new papa answered dubiously, "I guess it won't hurt — but darling, be sure: boil the finger first!"

A columnist describes a rather novel approach made by a notorious grafter to an easy touch at the Lambs' Club. "Byrnie," whined the grafter, "I'm not seeking to borrow money from you again this time. But I'm writing home to my poor old mother —and I thought you could tell me how to spell 'malnutrition.'"

Most memorable of the eulogies delivered at the funeral of Mark Twain consisted of a single sentence: "This is the first day you have made us sad."

Bob Friend Notches His Sixth Victory

Pittsburgh Wins Fifth Straight In Fast-Played Game

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Bob Friend notched his sixth victory of the season Wednesday night with a brilliant three-hitter that blanked the Cincinnati Reds 5-0 and gave the Pittsburgh Pirates their fifth consecutive triumph.

The right hander, completing the game in 1 hour and 55 minutes, became the first Pirate hurler to go the distance in the last 12 games. Vernon Law, who paces the Pirates pitchers with a 7-1 mark, was the last Buc to go the route when he beat the St. Louis Cardinals, 4-2, on May 18.

Friend, striking out six, allowed only one walk as he turned in his third shutout of the season. He had blanked the Reds 5-0 earlier this season and whitewashed the Phils 3-0. He yielded a pair of singles to leadoff batters in the first and third innings, respectively. Shortstop Roy McMillan singled in the eighth for the only safeties for the losers.

The Pirates closed out their current home stand with a shining 10-4 mark and raised their Forbes Field log to 18 victories against 6 defeats. They are 10 and 8 on the road.

CHICAGO (UPI) — Willie Pastrano, a dancer with an accurate left jab, staved off Sonny Ray's two-fisted rushes for 10 rounds Wednesday night to win a unanimous decision in their televised fight.

Pastrano weighed 175, the light heavyweight limit, for the match and Ray 173. The bout drew a crowd of 698, who paid $1,003.00.

Brown Hurls 1-Hitter For Fourth Win

Mantle's Homer Is Only Bingle; Birds Up Lead

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Hal (Skinny) Brown hurled a one-hitter Wednesday night to lead the league-leading Baltimore Orioles to a 4-1 triumph over the New York Yankees that boosted their first-place margin to 2½ games.

Mickey Mantle, the second man to face Brown, hit his seventh homer of the season with one out in the first inning for the Yankee run.

In all, Brown permitted only two other base runners, walking Mantle and Yogi Berra both in the fourth but coaxed Bob Cerv to hit into a double play. He retired the final 16 men in a row to record his fourth victory against but one setback.

The Orioles made only four hits off Duke Maas and John Gabler, but one was rookie Ron Hansen's fourth homer of the year in the fifth with two mates aboard. The three runs-batted-in sent Hansen into the league lead in that department with 32.

Steve Johnson Finishes Fourth In Golf Tourney

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sixteen-year-old Rick Billingsley, a 10th grader at Walter Johnson High of Bethesda, sank an 18-foot putt on the third hole of a three-way sudden death playoff Wednesday to win the Maryland High School Golf Tournament.

Billingsley and two players from Bethesda-Chevy Chase High, Marty Garber and Danny Boone, ended in a three-way tie with 73 totals after 18 holes in the invitational event sponsored by the University of Maryland.

Bethesda-Chevy Chase won the team title when its three linksmen compiled a 221 total. Walter Johnson of Rockville was runner-up at 227 and Northwestern of Hyattsville was in third place with 239.

In the playoff for the individual title, all three shot par on the first hole and matched birdie fours on the second.

Billingsley sank an 18-foot putt for a birdie three on the third hole. Boone's putt for a birdie hung on the edge of the cup but failed to drop in and Garber took five strokes for the hole.

Fourth place in the individual event went to Stephen Johnson of Cumberland's Fort Hill High with 74.

St. Paddy Cops Epsom Derby; Angers Killed

U. S. Owned Horse Destroyed At Track

EPSOM, England (AP) — Sir Victor Sassoon's St. Paddy Wednesday won a tragic Epsom Derby which brought death to France's finest racing colt.

Angers, pride of the French tracks and of his American owner, Mrs. Ralph Beaver Strassburger of Paris and Norristown, Pa., suffered a broken leg during the 1½ mile race and had to be shot. The son of Worden, who won the 1953 Washington, D.C., International at Laurel, Md., for Mrs. Strassburger's late husband, started as the 2-1 favorite in a field of 17.

The 250,000 crowd, cheering the winner into the paddock in bright sunshine, knew nothing of the tragedy until half an hour later. Angers was destroyed where he fell, halfway around the horseshoe shaped course and out of sight of the main stands.

St. Paddy's victory was the fourth derby triumph in eight years for Sir Victor, crippled 78-year-old English banker. St. Paddy earned $92,545, the biggest prize in the 18-year-history of the classic. Sassoon won the 1953 race with Pinza, and followed with Crepello in 1957 and Hard Ridden in 1958.

Irish-trained horses took the next two places. Second went to Sir Richard Brooke's Alcaeus, three lengths back of the winner. Rory and Frank More O'Ferrall's Kythnos, who won the 2,000 Guineas recently, was third, a half length back of Alcaeus. St. Paddy started at odds of 7-1, Alcaeus at 10-1, and Kythnos, 7-1.

An Irish hospital sweepstakes is based on the derby outcome.

Another American-owned colt, Die Hard, was up with the leaders from the start and led with about half a mile to go, then tired and finished sixth. Die Hard is owned by John McShain of Philadelphia. His colt Ballymoss was beaten a length and a half by Crepello three years ago.

Lombardo Boat Explodes, Sinks

BAY CITY, Mich. (AP) — The Tempo Alcoa, a jet powered aluminum race boat owned by band leader Guy Lombardo, exploded and sank in Saginaw Bay on a test run Wednesday.

No one was in the boat when it blew up. It was being operated by remote control from shore by its builder Les Staudacher. The craft, estimated to have cost $300,000, was badly damaged by the blast and sank in 12 feet of water.

Staudacher said efforts to raise the craft would be made immediately.

Bob Friend Notches His Sixth Victory

Pittsburgh Wins Fifth Straight In Fast-Played Game

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Bob Friend notched his sixth victory of the season Wednesday night with a brilliant three-hitter that blanked the Cincinnati Reds 5-0 and gave the Pittsburgh Pirates their fifth consecutive triumph.

The right hander, completing the game in 1 hour and 55 minutes, became the first Pirate hurler to go the distance in the last 12 games. Vernon Law, who paces the Pirates pitchers with a 7-1 mark, was the last Buc to go the route when he beat the St. Louis Cardinals, 4-2, on May 18.

Friend, striking out six, allowed only one walk as he turned in his third shutout of the season. He had blanked the Reds 5-0 earlier this season and whitewashed the Phils 3-0. He yielded a pair of singles to leadoff batters in the first and third innings, respectively. Shortstop Roy McMillan singled in the eighth for the only safeties for the losers.

The Pirates closed out their current home stand with a shining 10-4 mark and raised their Forbes Field log to 18 victories against 6 defeats. They are 10 and 8 on the road.

Brown Hurls 1-Hitter For Fourth Win

Mantle's Homer Is Only Bingle; Birds Up Lead

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Hal (Skinny) Brown hurled a one-hitter Wednesday night to lead the league-leading Baltimore Orioles to a 4-1 triumph over the New York Yankees that boosted their first-place margin to 2½ games.

Mickey Mantle, the second man to face Brown, hit his seventh homer of the season with one out in the first inning for the Yankee run.

In all, Brown permitted only two other base runners, walking Mantle and Yogi Berra both in the fourth but coaxed Bob Cerv to hit into a double play. He retired the final 16 men in a row to record his fourth victory against but one setback.

The Orioles made only four hits off Duke Maas and John Gabler, but one was rookie Ron Hansen's fourth homer of the year in the fifth with two mates aboard. The three runs-batted-in sent Hansen into the league lead in that department with 32.

Steve Johnson Finishes Fourth in Golf Tourney

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sixteen-year-old Rick Billingsley, a 10th grader at Walter Johnson High of Bethesda, sank an 18-foot putt on the third hole of a three-way sudden death playoff Wednesday to win the Maryland High School Golf Tournament.

Billingsley and two players from Bethesda-Chevy Chase High, Marty Garber and Danny Boone, ended in a three-way tie with 73 totals after 18 holes in the invitational event sponsored by the University of Maryland.

Bethesda-Chevy Chase won the team title when its three linksmen compiled a 221 total. Walter Johnson of Rockville was runner-up at 227 and Northwestern of Hyattsville was in third place with 239.

In the playoff for the individual title, all three shot par on the first hole and matched birdie fours on the second.

Billingsley sank an 18-foot putt for a birdie three on the third hole. Boone's putt for a birdie hung on the edge of the cup but failed to drop in and Garber took five strokes for the hole.

Fourth place in the individual event went to Stephen Johnson of Cumberland's Fort Hill High with 74.

St. Paddy Cops Epsom Derby; Angers Killed

U. S.Owned Horse Destroyed At Track

EPSOM, England (AP) — Sir Victor Sassoon's St. Paddy Wednesday won a tragic Epsom Derby which brought death to France's finest racing colt.

Angers, pride of the French tracks and of his American owner, Mrs. Ralph Beaver Strassburger of Paris and Norristown, Pa., suffered a broken leg during the 1½ mile race and had to be shot. The son of Worden, who won the 1953 Washington, D.C., International at Laurel, Md., for Mrs. Strassburger's late husband, started as the 2-1 favorite in a field of 17.

The 250,000 crowd, cheering the winner into the paddock in bright sunshine, knew nothing of the tragedy until half an hour later. Angers was destroyed where he fell, halfway around the horseshoe shaped course and out of sight of the main stands.

St. Paddy's victory was the fourth derby triumph in eight years for Sir Victor, crippled 78-year-old English banker. St. Paddy earned $92,545, the biggest prize in the 18-year-history of the classic. Sassoon won the 1953 race with Pinza, and followed with Crepello in 1957 and Hard Ridden in 1958.

Irish-trained horses took the next two places. Second went to Sir Richard Brooke's Alcaeus, three lengths back of the winner. Rory and Frank More O'Ferrall's Kythnos, who won the 2,000 Guineas recently, was third, a half length back of Alcaeus. St. Paddy started at odds of 7-1, Alcaeus at 10-1, and Kythnos, 7-1.

An Irish hospital sweepstakes is based on the derby outcome.

Another American-owned colt, Die Hard, was up with the leaders from the start and led with about half a mile to go, then tired and finished sixth. Die Hard is owned by John McShain of Philadelphia. His colt Ballymoss was beaten a length and a half by Crepello three years ago.

Jones Pitches, Bats Giants To Win Over Cubs

Double In Ninth Decides 2-1 Game

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) —Old Sam Jones clouted a two-out, bottom of the ninth double to send in catcher Bob Schmidt with the winning run and give the San Francisco Giants a 2-1 victory over the Chicago Cubs Wednesday.

Jones was hooked up in a tense mound duel with young Dick Ellsworth of the Cubs and the game seemed headed for extra innings when the weak-hitting Giant hurler came to the plate. There were two down and the slow running Schmidt was on first base when Jones, with two strikes already called on him, smashed the ball against the barrier at the 397-foot mark. Schmidt scored easily.

It was one of the few hard hit balls in the game. In fact, Ellsworth had allowed only four hits and only six balls hit out of the infield on him before Schmidt and Jones came up in the ninth.

While winning his sixth victory against four losses, Jones struck out seven and walked only one. Ellsworth, who now has a 2-2 record, walked six and struck out two.

Memphis Open Begins Today

Palmer To Miss $30,000 Event

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) —Golfdom's touring professionals, bolstered by old pro Ben Hogan, begin shooting Thursday in the $30,000 Memphis Open, which is fast becoming one of the top tournaments in the country.

All of last year's top 20 money winners, except Master's Champion Arnold Palmer — busy writing a book — and Billy Casper, will compete in the four-day, 72-hole tournament. That includes players like Ken Venturi, Gene Littler, Art Wall, Dow Finsterwald, Mike Souchak, Doug Ford.

Bill Collins, 31-year-old Florida shot-maker who currently is burning up the golf circuit, also will be here. Collins has pocketed $17,320 in 16 events this year, including recent wins at Houston, Tex., and Hot Spring, Ark.

But the big drawing card for many will be bantam Ben, who will be competing in his fourth tournament of the year. Hogan will be turning up for his bid for a fifth National Open Title.

Hogan was to play here last year, but was forced out by illness at the last moment. When he showed up early Sunday for a practice round, a large gallery followed him.

Pirates Plan Camp

The Pittsburgh Pirates will conduct a tryout camp at Johnstown, Pennsylvania on Friday and Saturday, June 10, and 11. The camp will be held at Point Field and will be under the supervision of Joe Bowen, Pirates' Scouting Supervisor for the Pennsylvania territory. Joe will be assisted by "Lefty" Hite and Sam Cubeta. Players should report ready to go at 1:00 a. m. and be prepared to workout until 2:00 p. m.

Miss McIntire Advances To British Finals

Meets Miss Garvey For Golf Crown

HARLECH, Wales (AP)—Barbara McIntire bowled over two of her American teammates Wednesday and advanced to the final round of the British Women's Amateur Golf Championship. She will play the veteran Philomena Garvey of Ireland for the title Thursday.

Miss Garvey, 38, a longtime international competitor, thwarted an expected all-U.S. final by upsetting Joanne Gunderson of Kirkland, Wash., 3 and 2, in the semi-finals.

Misses McIntire and Garvey will clash in a 36-hole match over the 6,290-yard, par 73 royal St. David's course. The teeoff time is 8:30 a.m. local time (3:30 a.m. EST).

Miss McIntire will be seeking to duplicate the feat of the late Babe Didrikson Zaharias and Louise Suggs in adding the British to the U.S. championship. Mrs. Zaharias won the British title in 1947, the first American to do so, and Miss Suggs in 1948—both, as in the case of Miss McIntire, while holding the U.S. crown.

The last and only other American winner of this 67-year-old event was Margaret (Wiffi) Smith, who triumphed in 1956.

Miss McIntire, a 24-year-old real estate operator from Lake Park, Fla., defeated Joanne Goodwin of Haverhill, Mass., in the quarter-finals, 2-up, and then won over Anne Quast of Marysville, Wash., 4 and 3. All were members of the United States' successful Curtis Cup team.

Miss Garvey trounced Hilary Williamson of England in the morning, 7 and 5, before stunning the long-hitting Miss Gunderson. Miss Gunderson advanced to the semifinals by crushing the Vicomtesse de Saint Sauveur, the French champion, 7 and 5.

Colavito, Bilko Return To Lineup Of Detroit Tigers

DETROIT (UPI) — Rocky Colavito, the 1959 home run king who was benched for light hitting, returned to the lineup Wednesday night when the Tigers met the Chicago White Sox.

Colavito, batting a puny .158, was yanked out of the lineup by Manager Jimmy Dykes on a "game-to-game basis" May 22.

His replacement, Charley Maxwell, proceeded to blast four home runs in six games to lead the Tigers on a six-game winning streak.

But Detroit has now lost four in a row and Dykes feels it's time to give "Rocky another chance."

Colavito will replace Neil Chrisley in the starting Tiger outfield.

Steve Bilko, who has been benched since the second week of the season, also returned to the lineup Wednesday night, replacing Norm Cash who has managed only one hit in his last 25 times at bat.

Beau Pilot Is Victor At Delaware Park

STANTON, Del. (UPI) —Beau Pilot, refusing to give ground in the stretch, scored a two-length victory over Will Count Wednesday in the feature race at Delaware Park.

Leading all the way, Beau Pilot opened the two-length gap over the challenger midway in the stretch and held that margin to the finish line as he recorded his first victory in two years.

Gannet, closing from fifth place, was another two lengths farther back in third place.

Syndicate Fails To Purchase Bosox

BOSTON (AP)—A syndicate of 10 greater Boston business men tried unsuccessfully Tuesday to buy the Red Sox.

Herbert Abrams, a Boston and Brookline attorney, said today he "made a firm offer of 5 million dollars" for the American League franchise.

Abrams said Richard O'Connell, Sox business manager, told him "the Red Sox are not for sale."

Games Postponed, Rescheduled Today

BOSTON (UPI) — The scheduled twi-night doubleheader between the Boston Red Sox and the Washington Senators at Fenway Park Wednesday night was postponed because of rain.

The twilight half of the twin bill was originally rained out during an earlier Washington visit and rescheduled for Wednesday.

The Senators and Red Sox will try again Thursday to make up a game by meeting in an afternoon doubleheader. The date was originally a single afternoon game.

Pitcher Is Signed

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Phillies Wednesday announced the signing of Stan Sanders, 20-year-old right-handed pitcher just out of military service. Sanders pitched one no-hitter as a high school star in Miami and two others for an American Legion team. He will be farmed out to Elmira of the New York-Pennsylvania League.

Russia Withdraws

COLOGNE, Germany (AP) — Russia has withdrawn from the 1960 world gliding championships, organizers of the international competitions said Wednesday.

The German Aero Club, responsible for holding the championships at nearby Butzeiler airfield, said the Soviets had given technical reasons for withdrawing their three pilots.

Double In Ninth Decides 2-1 Game

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) —Old Sam Jones clouted a two-out, bottom of the ninth double to send in catcher Bob Schmidt with the winning run and give the San Francisco Giants a 2-1 victory over the Chicago Cubs Wednesday.

Jones was hooked up in a tense mound duel with young Dick Ellsworth of the Cubs and the game seemed headed for extra innings when the weak-hitting Giant hurler came to the plate. There were two down and the slow running Schmidt was on first base when Jones, with two strikes already called on him, smashed the ball against the barrier at the 397-foot mark. Schmidt scored easily.

It was one of the few hard hit balls in the game. In fact, Ellsworth had allowed only four hits and only six balls hit out of the infield on him before Schmidt and Jones came up in the ninth.

While winning his sixth victory against four losses, Jones struck out seven and walked only one. Ellsworth, who now has a 2-2 record, walked six and struck out two.

Memphis Open Begins Today

Palmer To Miss $30,000 Event

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) —Golfdom's touring professionals, bolstered by old pro Ben Hogan, begin shooting Thursday in the $30,000 Memphis Open, which is fast becoming one of the top tournaments in the country.

All of last year's top 20 money winners, except Master's Champion Arnold Palmer — busy writing a book — and Billy Casper, will compete in the four-day, 72-hole tournament. That includes players like Ken Venturi, Gene Littler, Art Wall, Dow Finsterwald, Mike Souchak, Doug Ford.

Bill Collins, 31-year-old Florida shot-maker who currently is burning up the golf circuit, also will be here. Collins has pocketed $17,320 in 16 events this year, including recent wins at Houston, Tex., and Hot Spring, Ark.

But the big drawing card for many will be bantam Ben, who will be competing in his fourth tournament of the year. Hogan will be turning up for his bid for a fifth National Open Title.

Hogan was to play here last year, but was forced out by illness at the last moment. When he showed up early Sunday for a practice round, a large gallery followed him.

Pirates Plan Camp

The Pittsburgh Pirates will conduct a tryout camp at Johnstown, Pennsylvania on Friday and Saturday, June 10, and 11. The camp will be held at Point Field and will be under the supervision of Joe Bowen, Pirates' Scouting Supervisor for the Pennsylvania territory. Joe will be assisted by "Lefty" Hite and Sam Cubeta. Players should report ready to go at 1:00 a. m. and be prepared to workout until 2:00 p. m.

Miss McIntire Advances To British Finals

Meets Miss Garvey For Golf Crown

HARLECH, Wales (AP)—Barbara McIntire bowled over two of her American teammates Wednesday and advanced to the final round of the British Women's Amateur Golf Championship. She will play the veteran Philomena Garvey of Ireland for the title Thursday.

Miss Garvey, 38, a longtime international competitor, thwarted an expected all-U.S. final by upsetting Joanne Gunderson of Kirkland, Wash., 3 and 2, in the semi-finals.

Misses McIntire and Garvey will clash in a 36-hole match over the 6,290-yard, par 73 royal St. David's course. The teeoff time is 8:30 a.m. local time (3:30 a.m. EST).

Miss McIntire will be seeking to duplicate the feat of the late Babe Didrikson Zaharias and Louise Suggs in adding the British to the U.S. championship. Mrs. Zaharias won the British title in 1947, the first American to do so, and Miss Suggs in 1948—both, as in the case of Miss McIntire, while holding the U.S. crown.

The last and only other American winner of this 67-year-old event was Margaret (Wiffi) Smith, who triumphed in 1956.

Miss McIntire, a 24-year-old real estate operator from Lake Park, Fla., defeated Joanne Goodwin of Haverhill, Mass., in the quarter-finals, 2-up, and then won over Anne Quast of Marysville, Wash., 4 and 3. All were members of the United States' successful Curtis Cup team.

Miss Garvey trounced Hilary Williamson of England in the morning, 7 and 5, before stunning the long-hitting Miss Gunderson. Miss Gunderson advanced to the semifinals by crushing the Vicomtesse de Saint Sauveur, the French champion, 7 and 5.

Colavito, Bilko Return To Lineup Of Detroit Tigers

DETROIT (UPI) — Rocky Colavito, the 1959 home run king who was benched for light hitting, returned to the lineup Wednesday night when the Tigers met the Chicago White Sox.

Colavito, batting a puny .158, was yanked out of the lineup by Manager Jimmy Dykes on a "game-to-game basis" May 22.

His replacement, Charley Maxwell, proceeded to blast four home runs in six games to lead the Tigers on a six-game winning streak.

But Detroit has now lost four in a row and Dykes feels it's time to give "Rocky another chance."

Colavito will replace Neil Chrisley in the starting Tiger outfield.

Steve Bilko, who has been benched since the second week of the season, also returned to the lineup Wednesday night, replacing Norm Cash who has managed only one hit in his last 25 times at bat.

Beau Pilot Is Victor At Delaware Park

STANTON, Del. (UPI) —Beau Pilot, refusing to give ground in the stretch, scored a two-length victory over Vil. Count Wednesday in the feature race at Delaware Park.

Leading all the way, Beau Pilot opened the two-length gap over the challenger midway in the stretch and held that margin to the finish line as he recorded his first victory in two years.

Gannet, closing from fifth place, was another two lengths farther back in third place.

Abrams said Richard O'Connell, Sox business manager, told him "the Red Sox are not for sale."

Games Postponed, Rescheduled Today

BOSTON (UPI) — The scheduled twi-night doubleheader between the Boston Red Sox and the Washington Senators at Fenway Park Wednesday night was postponed because of rain.

The twilight half of the twin bill was originally rained out during an earlier Washington visit and rescheduled for Wednesday.

The Senators and Red Sox will try again Thursday to make up a game by meeting in an afternoon doubleheader. The date was originally a single afternoon game.

School Superintendent Calls His Dismissal By Board 'Defensive Action'

A. Clinton Loy Challenges Members In Hampshire County Dispute

ROMNEY—A. Clinton Loy, who was suspended by the Hampshire County Board of Education by a 3 to 2 vote last week, has declared that the action was "a defensive measure on the part of certain members of the board so that public scrutiny might be diverted from their own activities in the conduct of the school system."

"If was a matter of general knowledge among members voting for my suspension that I was considering instituting legal action against them, or that taxpayers of the county were going to do so. To stay such proceedings the charges were trumped up against me," Loy stated.

Loy said legal proceedings will be brought against three members of the board on one or more of the following charges.

"Budgeting $1,000 for legal services in violation of state regulations, when the prosecuting attorney is available and the money could be used for other school needs.

"The authorizing by the board president, Russell Oates, of the employment of persons to do summer cleaning at schools at a cost of approximately $1,000 when the janitors at the schools could have done the work.

"Hiring three more teachers than the superintendent recommended as necessary. This was done, Loy pointed out, when teachers' salaries had to be cut, schools needed repairs, fire hazards had not been corrected and needed school buses not purchased.

"Rendering the school superintendent ineffective in his job.

"Allowing one-third the help in the administrative offices allowed by most counties, many smaller than Hampshire County, thereby crippling the effectiveness of the school program.

"Employing office help and when the superintendent refused to pay that help they created a job for one of them as supervisor of janitors.

"Stopping payment of the superintendents salary for a period by the board president.

"Not complying with state law in the employment of an attendance officer.

"Assigning legally specified secretarial duties of superintendent to office employe.

"That proper bills were not turned in for a school during a two years period and when the superintendent held up the report he was overruled by a 3 to 2 vote of the board. The bills concerned the school lunch program. Loy stated that the board on October 30, 1959 by a 3 to 2 vote passed a motion ordering him to process the school lunch reports regardless of whether the bills were presented as required by law.

"Muzzling employes with the following order: It is the order of this board that no employe resort to newspaper advertisement, articles or public utterances either directly or through another, expressing or implying disagreement with a policy, order of directive of this board.

"Reversing the superintendent on teacher assignments and placements.

"Ignoring certain recommendations of the state fire marshal and taking the matter out of the hands of the superintendent.

"Doing nothing to provide proper housing at Romney High and other county schools.

"Denying citizens the right to attend Board of Education meetings.

"Arbitrarily altering the minutes of the board meetings as they chose."

The board members who voted for suspension of Loy pending a hearing June 24 were Oates, William V. Parker and Roscoe Tutwiler.

Voting against the suspension were Henry W. Campbell and E. L. Grapes.

Auditorium Built Outside At Northern

Students Complete New Amphitheatre

ACCIDENT — Northern Garrett County High School, located in beautiful mountain tableland two miles north of here, was built without an auditorium.

But now, following long work by students themselves with the leadership of science teachers, the school has an outdoor amphitheatre.

The first assembly programs in the woodland auditorium were held Thursday afternoon with the junior high meeting first and the senior high second.

Wooden benches anchored securely in the ground were placed on the slope of one of the little vales in the forest behind the school. Then a bandstand from rough timbers was made to complete the amphitheatre.

This project stemmed from an idea of R. Bowen Hardesty, president of Frostburg State Teachers who was superintendent of Garrett County schools in 1952.

Others who participated in getting the work underway and developed the idea were Charles Strauss, chairman of the science department, and Justin A. Riggs, Robert Wilson and Kenneth Keplinger, science teachers.

The school is located on a tract of land covering 134 acres, of which half is cleared and the remaining half woodland.

The amphitheatre is a part of an outdoor nature laboratory which is also a project of the student body.

Frandel McGram presided and selections were presented by the junior band directed by Melvin Schwing. Comments were made by Strauss and McGram.

Paul J. Muha, principal, conducted the senior high assembly and remarks were made by Willard T. Hawkins, superintendent of Garrett County schools; Dr. Harold Cordts, of Frostburg State Teachers College who represented Hardesty; and Strauss. Selections were played by the senior band.

School Superintendent Calls His Dismissal By Board 'Defensive Action'

A. Clinton Loy Challenges Members In Hampshire County Dispute

ROMNEY—A. Clinton Loy, who was suspended by the Hampshire County Board of Education by a 3 to 2 vote last week, has declared that the action was "a defensive measure on the part of certain members of the board so that public scrutiny might be diverted from their own activities in the conduct of the school system."

"It was a matter of general knowledge among members voting for my suspension that I was considering instituting legal action against them, or that taxpayers of the county were going to do so. To stay such proceedings the charges were trumped up against me," Loy stated.

Loy said legal proceedings will be brought against three members of the board on one or more of the following charges.

"Budgeting $1,000 for legal services in violation of state regulations, when the prosecuting attorney is available and the money could be used for other school needs.

"The authorizing by the board president, Russell Oates, of the employment of persons to do summer cleaning at schools at a cost of approximately $1,000 when the janitors at the schools could have done the work.

"Hiring three more teachers than the superintendent recommended as necessary. This was done, Loy pointed out, when teachers' salaries had to be cut, schools needed repairs, fire hazards had not been corrected and needed school buses not purchased.

"Rendering the school superintendent ineffective in his job.

"Allowing one-third the help in the administrative offices allowed by most counties, many smaller than Hampshire County, thereby crippling the effectiveness of the school program.

"Employing office help and when the superintendent refused to pay that help they created a job for one of them as supervisor of janitors.

"Stopping payment of the superintendents salary for a period by the board president.

"Not complying with state law in the employment of an attendance officer.

"Assigning legally specified secretarial duties of superintendent to office employe.

"That proper bills were not turned in for a school during a two years period and when the superintendent held up the report he was overruled by a 3 to 2 vote of the board. The bills concerned the school lunch program. Loy stated that the board on October 30, 1959 by a 3 to 2 vote passed a motion ordering him to process the school lunch reports regardless of whether the bills were presented as required by law.

"Muzzling employes with the following order: It is the order of this board that no employe resort to newspaper advertisement, articles or public utterances either directly or through another, expressing or implying disagreement with a policy, order of directive of this board.

"Reversing the superintendent on teacher assignments and placements.

"Ignoring certain recommendations of the state fire marshal and taking the matter out of the hands of the superintendent.

"Doing nothing to provide proper housing at Romney High and other county schools.

"Denying citizens the right to attend Board of Education meetings.

"Arbitrarily altering the minutes of the board meetings as they chose."

The board members who voted for suspension of Loy pending a hearing June 24 were Oates, William V. Parker and Roscoe Tutwiler.

Voting against the suspension were Henry W. Campbell and E. L. Grapes.

Auditorium Built Outside At Northern

Students Complete New Amphitheatre

ACCIDENT — Northern Garrett County High School, located in beautiful mountain tableland two miles north of here, was built without an auditorium.

But now, following long work by students themselves with the leadership of science teachers, the school has an outdoor amphitheatre.

The first assembly programs in the woodland auditorium were held Thursday afternoon with the junior high meeting first and the senior high second.

Wooden benches anchored securely in the ground were placed on the slope of one of the little vales in the forest behind the school. Then a bandstand from rough timbers was made to complete the amphitheatre.

This project stemmed from an idea of R. Bowen Hardesty, president of Frostburg State Teachers who was superintendent of Garrett County schools in 1952.

Others who participated in getting the work underway and developed the idea were Charles Strauss, chairman of the science department, and Justin A. Riggs, Robert Wilson and Kenneth Keplinger, science teachers.

The school is located on a tract of land covering 134 acres, of which half is cleared and the remaining half woodland.

The amphitheatre is a part of an outdoor nature laboratory which is also a project of the student body.

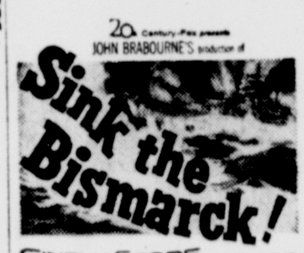

Frandel McGram presided and selections were presented by the junior band directed by Melvin Schwing. Comments were made by Strauss and McGram.

Paul J. Muha, principal, conducted the senior high assembly and remarks were made by Willard T. Hawkins, superintendent of Garrett County schools; Dr. Harold Cordts, of Frostburg State Teachers College who represented Hardesty; and Strauss. Selections were played by the senior band.

VFW Meets Tonight

LONACONING — Alvin C. Neat Post No. 5280, Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary, will meet tonight at the VFW home.

The Dr. Henry M. Hodgdon memorial award will be presented by the VFW Auxiliary to the outstanding girl athlete at the Valley High school commencement Friday.

MANILA (UPI) — The Philippines took a 1-0 lead over India Wednesday in the Eastern Zone Davis Cup tennis final when Raymundo Deyro defeated Naresh Kumar in the first singles match, 6-0, 6-1, 6-1.

Arnold Palmer continued to lead the list with a total of $50,200 in money winnings.

Philippines Lead In Cup Matches

MANILA (UPI) — The Philippines took a 1-0 lead over India Wednesday in the Eastern Zone Davis Cup tennis final when Raymundo Deyro defeated Naresh Kumar in the first singles match, 6-0, 6-1, 6-1.

Rain forced postponement of Wednesdays other singles match after the first game of the opening set with Ramanathan Krishnan of India leading Felicissimo Ampon, 1-0. The match will be resumed Thursday.

The doubles match is scheduled Friday with the last two singles contests set for Saturday.

The carp, a native of Asia, was introduced in the United States in 1872.

Late Decline Wipes Out Earlier Market Advance

NEW YORK (UPI)—The stock market floundered on a late sell-off Wednesday that pared most prices from the day's best levels and left the list just about where it was the day before.

Electronics, drugs and cameras featured the more spectacular run-ups, while metals and oils were mixed, autos and steel firm and chemicals easier.

Industrial stocks closed with a small loss on average, their first in four sessions, while rails ended lower for the fifth successive day. Utilities were firm.

Declines outnumbered advances 588 to 429 with 194 issues unchanged. Only 1,211 issues appeared on the tape, against 1,230 the day before. New lows outdistanced new highs by 99 to 74.

Autos, dull most of the session, picked up late in the day as reports on May auto output reached the market. Ford, which turned in the best May since 1955, tacked on a small fraction. The other auto shares, GM, American and Chrysler, all improved on similar reports.

Steels also met some late support, with National and Armco up around 2, and U.S. Steel ahead by more than a point.

Late Decline Wipes Out Earlier Market Advance

NEW YORK (UPI)—The stock market floundered on a late sell-off Wednesday that pared most prices from the day's best levels and left the list just about where it was the day before.

Electronics, drugs and cameras featured the more spectacular run-ups, while metals and oils were mixed, autos and steel firm and chemicals easier.

Industrial stocks closed with a small loss on average, their first in four sessions, while rails ended lower for the fifth successive day. Utilities were firm.

Declines outnumbered advances 588 to 429 with 194 issues unchanged. Only 1,211 issues appeared on the tape, against 1,230 the day before. New lows outdistanced new highs by 99 to 74.

Autos, dull most of the session, picked up late in the day as reports on May auto output reached the market. Ford, which turned in the best May since 1955, tacked on a small fraction. The other auto shares, GM, American and Chrysler, all improved on similar reports.

Steels also met some late support, with National and Armco up around 2, and U.S. Steel ahead by more than a point.

'Alinco' Merges With Textron Electronics

Move Is Expected To Foster Growth

Allegany Instrument Company has become affiliated with Textron Electronics Inc., of Providence, R. I., according to Harry Stern, president.

Mr. Stern said the merger, which became effective yesterday, will enable the continued growth and expansion experienced by "Alinco" since its start here in 1952.

Allegany Instrument Company manufactures precision electronic measuring devices, transducers, thrust and measuring devices used in developing and testing rockets and missiles, ballistic computers, electronic bridges and calibrators and paper mill testing and process control equipment.

Has Same Officers

Allegany Instrument Company will continue to operate under its own name as a division of Textron Electronics without change in management, personnel or policies, Mr. Stern said.

Mr. Stern will continue as president of Alinco; G. William Harrison as vice president and general manager, Charles M. Minke as vice president for engineering and Harold B. Mintermoyer, in charge of accounting and financial matters.

Allegany Instrument broadens Textron Electronics' capabilities in supplying test equipment and facilities for use in basic research and in developing space-age products. With Allegany Instrument Company, Textron Electronics comprises six divisions, including MB Electronics of New Haven, Conn., Electronics Research Company of Kansas City, Mo., GC Electronics of Rockford, Ill., Globe Electronics of Council Bluffs, Iowa, and Schafer Custom Engineering of Burbank, Cal.

The principal products of these companies are electronic vibration test systems, power amplifiers, environment test facilities, vibration isolators, jet engine parts, electronic component parts and supplies, hi fi accessories, microphones, antennas, phonograph drives, radio transmitter-receivers, amateur radio equipment, automation and remote control equipment for radio and television stations.

The dynamic growth of Textron Electronics is indicated by the steady climb in value and activity of its stock which is listed on the American Stock Exchange, officials said.

Is Success Story

The Alinco firm began operations in 1952 at 1000 Oldtown Road in buildings still used for storage and by the company's accounting department.

The firm moved to a 34-acre site on Wills Mountain in 1955 and has expanded quarters there to provide 40,000 square feet of floor space.

Steady expansion of the firm has resulted in an increase in employment from three persons to over 200 in eight years.

Alinco officials said the merger is expected to provide additional security for its employes through expected growth and expansion as part of the Textron Electronics organization.

Cumberland's fastest growing industry, Allegany Instrument was founded by three men who have plowed all profits of the company back into the business.

Officials said the firm is getting in the "big league" and that it was considered desirable to tie in with a larger firm.

Ursuline Award Winners

Entrants Being Sought For 'Miss Firefighter' Contest

The Bowling Green Volunteer Fire Company and its auxiliary unit, which will sponsor an outdoor festival, July 18-23, are seeking additional entrants in the "Miss Firefighter of 1960" contest and in the junior king and queen contest.

Deadline for the contests is Wednesday, June 8. Eligible to enter the "Miss Firefighter" contest are those between the ages of 13 and 25 who reside within 25 miles of Bowling Green.

The junior king and queen contest is open to youngsters between the ages of six and 12. Interested persons are asked to call Mrs. Irene Shipley, chairman, at PA 4-2370, or David E. Kirk, bazar co-chairman, at PA 2-1888.

He said members of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners will be invited to take part in the crowning of "Miss Firefighter" on the opening night.

Mayor J. Edwin Keech and members of the City Council will be invited to participate in the crowning of the junior king and queen the following night.

Credit Union Breaks Ground For Building

The Kel-Co Federal Credit Union broke ground for its new headquarters here last night.

The ceremony was held at Lee and Paca streets, where the one-story office building will be erected fronting on Lee Street.

The structure will be built by the Orrie Sensabaugh contracting firm here and is being constructed at a cost of about $21,000 for construction and equipment.

Ground was broken by Richard McClelland, chairman of the union's building committee.

Mayor J. Edwin Keech congratulated the credit union which includes some 1,600 employes of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company on the undertaking and wished it all success in the future.

Also participating were Charles Herath, chief engineer of the Kelly plant, who represented the tire company and drew plans for the building, and Mr. Sensabaugh, who reported he hopes to complete construction in 90 days.

Brief speeches were made by Alva C. Lewis, president of Local 26, Rubber Workers Union; Mrs. Betty Rider, secretary of the Western Maryland chapter of Credit Unions, and Clyde E. O'Baker, treasurer of the credit union.

Directors of Kel-Co Credit Union were honored at the ceremony.

Mexico Farms Road Is Cited

A memorandum from John B. Funk, chairman and director of the State Roads Commission, to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners explains that the cost of the new Mexico Farms Road will not be strictly a 50-50 proposition between the county and the federal government.

Mr. Funk writes that the total estimated cost of the 1.17 mile project is $188,800 for a four-inch base. Part of this will be paid for on a 50 per cent basis with the federal government. However, the portion of the work classed as grade separation over the railroad right-of-way will be paid for on a 90-10 basis with the federal government paying 90 per cent of this cost.

The SRC chairman then states that Allegany County has a federal secondary road account of $201,519 from which about $68,000 will be spent on the Mexico Farms Road work. The county will match the $68,000, he concludes. That would indicate that $120,800 of the total cost will be borne from federal funds.

Safety Society Charter Open

The Western Maryland Safety Engineers Society has authorized its executive and membership committee to act on new applicants for admission to the society.

The charter of the newly-organized group will be closed June 30.

In other action at a recent meeting, the society appointed Victor Kalbaugh of the Luke mill of West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company as chairman of the project committee.

The meeting also included a demonstration on fire facts by Henry Johnson, supervisor of safety and plant protection at the Amcelle plant of Celanses Fibers Company.

The next meeting of the society will be held Thursday, June 23 at the Cumberland Country Club.

Pool To Be Open This Weekend

The Constitution Park swimming pool will be open this weekend, weather permitting, according to C. Eugene Mason, recreation director.

It will be open on Saturday from noon until 9 p. m. and on Sunday from 1 to 9 p. m.

Mr. Mason said the pool will be open full time beginning June 11. Hours will be from noon until 9 p. m. on weekdays and from 1 to 9 p. m. on Sundays.

Formal opening of the pool last weekend was a failure due to rain and cool weather, but a few brave souls turned up to swim Sunday.

City Escapes Damage In Flood Test

Area Termed Ready To Meet Emergencies

Residents of Cumberland and Ridgeley didn't even get their feet wet during "Little John," the hypothetical flood alert staged here to test the flood emergency capacities of the North Branch area.

The "dry run" began Tuesday and ended yesterday. It was based on the supposition that 7.7 inches of rain fell on the watershed during 24 hours, causing a flood greater in intensity than the 1936 St. Patrick's Day inundation.

The fact that Cumberland escaped with very minor damage in the "flood" which sent the North Branch spilling over its banks both up and downstream of Cumberland was no surprise.

It was built by the Corps of Engineers at a cost of $18,100,000 to withstand a flood about 28 per cent bigger than the great 1936 flood.

Add Safety Factor

They added about two feet to concrete flood walls and about three feet freeboard to earth levees for good measure.

The hypothetical flood brought the level of the North Branch to 31.55 feet at the Wiley Ford Bridge, some two feet higher than the 29.2 feet of water recorded during the 1936 deluge.

To meet such a deluge during the "dry run," flood protection crews here and in Ridgeley sandbagged several gaps left in walls so Western Maryland tracks could remain on grade, and put all three pumping stations in action.

The only flood damage noted here was in the Ford Avenue area, where the river spilled over in low spots.

The design flood saw water rise to within two feet of the top of the concrete flood walls in Wills Creek.

Col. George B. Sumner, Washington District engineer, commented that the actual test was of flood fighting procedures and not of the flood control system.

"We trust it absolutely," he said of the flood protection system completed under his supervision.

City Is Ready

He said the procedures used in the test alert show that Cumberland is "very capable" of operating the system.

Army Engineer spokesmen praised the work of Charles R. Scarlett, city draftsman who took over from City Engineer C. R. Nuzum, who was absent due to the death of his father.

During a review of the exercise, it was pointed out that Mr. Nuzum "is going to have his hands full" in Cumberland during such a flood and that responsibility for some of the area outside the city should be shifted to someone else.

Another suggestion was that a radio net set aside for emergency use would be useful in major floods. Some of the messages sent during the alert were routed through the National Guard radio network here.

Radar Is Used

"Little John" marked the first time the Weather Bureau at Washington used its weather search radar during such a test, according to R. D. Tarble, of the Hydrologic Services unit of the Weather Bureau.

He said the test showed the bureau can use the radar equipment to locate the areas of greatest intensity of rain.

The test was marked by demonstrations of the pumping stations, stream gaging equipment and the sandbagging of low spots in flood protection structures.

Officials from Washington, Norfolk, Philadelphia, Baltimore, New York and North Atlantic divisions of the Army Engineers took part in the alert or served as observers.

Also participating were the Weather Bureau, Red Cross, Civil Defense, West Virginia State Road Commission, Upper Potomac River Commission, and the telephone company.

'Alinco' Merges With Textron Electronics

Move Is Expected To Foster Growth

Allegany Instrument Company has become affiliated with Textron Electronics Inc., of Providence, R. I., according to Harry Stern, president.

Mr. Stern said the merger, which became effective yesterday, will enable the continued growth and expansion experienced by "Alinco" since its start here in 1952.

Allegany Instrument Company manufactures precision electronic measuring devices, transducers, thrust and measuring devices used in developing and testing rockets and missiles, ballistic computers, electronic bridges and calibrators and paper mill testing and process control equipment.

Has Same Officers

Allegany Instrument Company will continue to operate under its own name as a division of Textron Electronics without change in management, personnel or policies, Mr. Stern said.

Mr. Stern will continue as president of Alinco; G. William Harrison as vice president and general manager, Charles M. Minke as vice president for engineering and Harold B. Mintermoyer, in charge of accounting and financial matters.

Allegany Instrument broadens Textron Electronics' capabilities in supplying test equipment and facilities for use in basic research and in developing spaceage products. With Allegany Instrument Company, Textron Electronics comprises six divisions, including MB Electronics of New Haven, Conn., Electronics Research Company of Kansas City, Mo., GC Electronics of Rockford, Ill., Globe Electronics of Council Bluffs, Iowa, and Schafer Custom Engineering of Burbank, Cal.

The principal products of these companies are electronic vibration test systems, power amplifiers, environment test facilities, vibration isolators, jet engine parts, electronic component parts and supplies, hi fi accessories, microphones, antennas, phonograph drives, radio transmitter-receivers, amateur radio equipment, automation and remote control equipment for radio and television stations.

The dynamic growth of Textron Electronics is indicated by the steady climb in value and activity of its stock which is listed on the American Stock Exchange, officials said.

Is Success Story

The Alinco firm began operations in 1952 at 1000 Oldtown Road in buildings still used for storage and by the company's accounting department.

The firm moved to a 34-acre site on Wills Mountain in 1955 and has expanded quarters there to provide 40,000 square feet of floor space.

Steady expansion of the firm has resulted in an increase in employment from three persons to over 200 in eight years.

Alinco officials said the merger is expected to provide additional security for its employes through expected growth and expansion as part of the Textron Electronics organization.

Cumberland's fastest growing industry, Allegany Instrument was founded by three men who have plowed all profits of the company back into the business.

Officials said the firm is getting in the "big league" and that it was considered desirable to tie in with a larger firm.

The ceremony was held at Lee and Paca streets, where the one-story office building will be erected fronting on Lee Street.

Ground was broken by Richard McClelland, chairman of the union's building committee.

Mayor J. Edwin Keech congratulated the credit union which includes some 1,600 employes of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company on the undertaking and wished it all success in the future.

Also participating were Charles Herath, chief engineer of the Kelly plant, who represented the tire company and drew plans for the building, and Mr. Sensabaugh, who reported he hopes to complete construction in 90 days.

Brief speeches were made by Alva C. Lewis, president of Local 26, Rubber Workers Union; Mrs. Betty Rider, secretary of the Western Maryland chapter of Credit Unions, and Clyde E. O'Baker, treasurer of the credit union.

Mexico Farms Road Is Cited

A memorandum from John B. Funk, chairman and director of the State Roads Commission, to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners explains that the cost of the new Mexico Farms Road will not be strictly a 50-50 proposition between the county and the federal government.

Mr. Funk writes that the total estimated cost of the 1.17 mile project is $188,800 for a four-inch base. Part of this will be paid for on a 50 per cent basis with the federal government. However, the portion of the work classed as grade separation over the railroad right-of-way will be paid for on a 90-10 basis with the federal government paying 90 per cent of this cost.

The SRC chairman then states that Allegany County has a federal secondary road account of $201,519 from which about $68,000 will be spent on the Mexico Farms Road work. The county will match the $68,000, he concludes. That would indicate that $120,800 of the total cost will be borne from federal funds.

The first to get under way will be the graduation exercises for the largest class, Fort Hill High School. This is planned as an outdoor affair in the stadium provided the weather is pleasant. If not, the ceremonies will be held in the school auditorium starting at 7 p. m.

Philip Lovejoy, educator, international figure and executive who was general secretary of Rotary International from 1942 to 1952, will address the 269 seniors, their relatives and friends in the Fort Hill stadium. Diplomas will be presented by T. Donald Shires, newest member of the County Board of Education.

Curtis W. Haug, general secretary of the YMCA in Jamestown, N. Y., will speak at the commencement for 101 seniors of Bruce High School at Westernport starting at 8 o'clock tonight. Kenneth R. Malcolm of Westernport, another member of the County Board of Education, will present diplomas.

J. Goodloe Jackson, president of the County Board of Education, will present diplomas at Mt. Savage. Mrs. Albert C. Cook of Frostburg, another board member, will present the awards to outstanding seniors as they are announced by Principal J. Hubert Radcliffe.

State's Attorney James S. Getty will address the 33 seniors of Oldtown High School in ceremonies also starting at 8 o'clock in the school auditorium. Mrs. Richard Winer, another member of the Board of Education, will present diplomas there.

Allegany, Beall, Valley and Flintstone will have their commencement on Friday night.

Month Of May Was Wet, Cool

During the month of May, the observed mean daily flow of the North Branch of the Potomac River here was 2,588 cubic feet per second, or an average of 1,673 million gallons per day.

According to A. A. Vickers, engineer in charge of the local office of the Geological Survey division of the Department of the Interior, this figure for May represents 159 per cent of the 30-year average for the month.

Daily flow of the river varied between 415 cubic feet per second, or 270 million gallons on May 6, and 14,700 cubic feet per second or 9,901 million gallons on May 9.

A seasonal increase in the water storage at Savage River Reservoir caused an average decrease of 7.8 million gallons a day or 0.5 per cent of the river flow at Cumberland.

During the month, total precipitation at Cumberland as reported by the Weather Bureau was 7.55 inches, or 4.16 inches above average. The average daily temperature was 57.9 degrees, which is 5.1 degrees below normal for May.

A 43-year-old local woman who sustained a head injury when she fell down a flight of steps at her home May 20 died yesterday in University Hospital, Baltimore.

Fatally injured was Mrs. Oleta Pearl Wagner, 445 Bond Street.

Mrs. Wagner was taken to Memorial Hospital following the accident and on May 23 was removed to the Baltimore hospital, where she underwent surgery.

She was born in West Virginia and was a daughter of Mrs. Chloe M. (Moreland) Lederer, this city, and the late John Lederer. Her husband, John Wagner, died in March.

Surviving, besides her mother, is a son, Thorner S. Defibaugh Jr., this city.

The body will be returned to the George Funeral Home.

'Y' To Dedicate New Health Section June 8

Naval Instructor To Be Speaker

Central YMCA will dedicate its new health department at a dinner program Wednesday at 6:30 p. m. in the Community Room of the "Y."

Guest speaker for the program will be Leon Romo, director of physical conditioning at the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis.

Harold D. Barber, a member of the board of directors of the YMCA, who also is serving as chairman of the dedication program, said reservations for the dinner must be made at the "Y" by Monday.

The new health department will be equipped with a steam room, heat cabinet and masseur. Mr. Barber said the department is designed primarily for the benefit of businessmen who get little opportunity for physical activity.

During the winter months the YMCA conducted a special membership drive to secure enough members to begin work on the new department.

The health department will have its own entrance near the main entrance of the "Y" on Baltimore Avenue.

Cave-In Kills Area Man

PENDER, Va. (UPI)—A West Virginia man was killed and a fellow worker critically injured Wednesday in a cave-in at a construction project near here.

Lloyd Edward Davey, 25, of Moorefield, W. Va., was pronounced dead on arrival at an Arlington hospital. A spokesman said he died of internal injuries.

Henry H. Dunbar, 50, of Chantilly, Va., was critically injured.

Authorities said the men were laying pipe for a telegraph line to the new Dulles International Airport at Chantilly when they were buried to their waists.

Other workers dug them out of the 4½ foot ditch with their bare hands.

Three Injured In Accidents

Two B&O Railroad employes and a local woman were admitted to Memorial Hospital Tuesday after being injured in separate accidents.

Frederick E. Pope, 58, of 2 Yost Avenue, sustained a fractured left foot when a crane slipped and fell on his foot. He was admitted to the hospital at 12:40 p. m. and underwent surgery.

James Shoemaker, 41, of RFD 2, Williams Road, another B&O worker, was admitted to the hospital for X-rays and observation after he injured his right leg when he fell at work.

Also admitted to the hospital was Mrs. Dorothy Moss, 47, of 126 North Centre Street. Hospital authorities said Mrs. Moss fractured her left leg when she tripped and fell down some steps at her home.

Investigation Planned On Ditch Complaint

An investigation of an open ditch complaint on Main Street in Potomac Park has been promised by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners.

Robert Kraus, Roy Taylor, Carlton Curry and Wilson Altizer appeared at Tuesday's meeting of the commissioners to present the complaint. They said that during heavy rains as occurred in May, there is high water in the ditch bringing with it debris and sewage. They recommended that a ditch be cut through at the rear of their property.

John J. Rowan, president of the Board of County Commissioners, said that a report would be requested from the County Health Department. Then he and Harry T. Skelly, county roads supervisor, will investigate the situation.

City Escapes Damage In Flood Test

Area Termed Ready To Meet Emergencies

Residents of Cumberland and Ridgeley didn't even get their feet wet during "Little John," the hypothetical flood alert staged here to test the flood emergency capacities of the North Branch area.

The "dry run" began Tuesday and ended yesterday. It was based on the supposition that 7.7 inches of rain fell on the watershed during 24 hours, causing a flood greater in intensity than the 1936 St. Patrick's Day inundation.

The fact that Cumberland escaped with very minor damage in the "flood" which sent the North Branch spilling over its banks both up and downstream of Cumberland was no surprise.

It was built by the Corps of Engineers at a cost of $18,100,000 to withstand a flood about 28 per cent bigger than the great 1936 flood.

Add Safety Factor

They added about two feet to concrete flood walls and about three feet freeboard to earth levees for good measure.

The hypothetical flood brought the level of the North Branch to 31.55 feet at the Wiley Ford Bridge, some two feet higher than the 29.2 feet of water recorded during the 1936 deluge.

To meet such a deluge during the "dry run," flood protection crews here and in Ridgeley sandbagged several gaps left in walls so Western Maryland tracks could remain on grade, and put all three pumping stations in action.

The only flood damage noted here was in the Ford Avenue area, where the river spilled over in low spots.

The design flood saw water rise to within two feet of the top of the concrete flood walls in Wills Creek.

Col. George B. Sumner, Washington District engineer, commented that the actual test was of flood fighting procedures and not of the flood control system.

"We trust it absolutely," he said of the flood protection system completed under his supervision.

City Is Ready

He said the procedures used in the test alert show that Cumberland is "very capable" of operating the system.

Army Engineer spokesmen praised the work of Charles R. Scarlett, city draftsman who took over from City Engineer C. R. Nuzum, who was absent due to the death of his father.

During a review of the exercise, it was pointed out that Mr. Nuzum "is going to have his hands full" in Cumberland during such a flood and that responsibility for some of the area outside the city should be shifted to someone else.

Another suggestion was that a radio net set aside for emergency use would be useful in major floods. Some of the messages sent during the alert were routed through the National Guard radio network here.

Radar Is Used

"Little John" marked the first time the Weather Bureau at Washington used its weather search radar during such a test, according to R. D. Tarble, of the Hydrologic Services unit of the Weather Bureau.

He said the test showed the bureau can use the radar equipment to locate the areas of greatest intensity of rain.

The test was marked by demonstrations of the pumping stations, stream gaging equipment and the sandbagging of low spots in flood protection structures.

Officials from Washington, Norfolk, Philadelphia, Baltimore, New York and North Atlantic divisions of the Army Engineers took part in the alert or served as observers.

Also participating were the Weather Bureau, Red Cross, Civil Defense, West Virginia State Road Commission, Upper Potomac River Commission, and the telephone company.

City Health Board Will Meet Monday

The City Health Board will meet Monday at 1:30 p. m. in the office of Mayor J. Edwin Keech.

Topics to be discussed include housing regulations, licensing of hotels and apartment houses and unauthorized repairs of substandard housing.
